Bring your eggs to Dahlonega before the people forget how they look.

The Nugget office is the place to get your job work done neat and cheap.

Miss Gena Allen left last week to visit her sister, Mrs. Reed, at Acworth, who is sick.

During a heavy storm last Friday lightning struck an oak tree near J. C. Williams' but fortunately injured no one.

Eugene, son of Dr. I. W. Waddell, a former citizen of Dahlonega, died in Marietta a few days ago, aged about 15.

Ben Elrod, Horris Anderson and Nelus Goudlock, all colored, were fined $1 and cost each last week for disorderly conduct.

Mr. Chas. C. Jones, of White county, was among our mining visitors here last week, who was accompanied by his wife.

The ministers and some of their families were about to attend camp meeting at Lumpkin from Dahlonega last week. Used to it was a common thing for twenty-five or thirty to go down.

In all probability Judge Tate will not do anything towards the Garnet mine bridge until after the fall term of the court, as he wishes the grand jury to say whether an iron or wooden structure is desired.

Mrs. T. R. Blake has arrived and will spend some time in Dahlonega with her husband who has been here quite a while in the employ of the Consolidated Co., as one of the superintendents at the Hand mine.

The two town lots (half acre) belonging to the Hughes estate, opposite McGuire's, brought $951, Judge Tate being the highest bidder, who says that he expects to build a residence on it and probably a business house too. It is very desirable property for either or both.

W. E. Matthews, of Marietta, Ga., has been employed as bookkeeper for The Hall Mds Co., who has arrived and is at his post. Mr. Henley, who has been acting in this capacity for some time will be able to give the business of the company more of his personal attention otherwise now.

Col. H. P. Farrow, proprietor of Porter Springs, is trying to teach his colored waiters to do right so that none of them will have to be lynched. He allows them the use of his dining room where they have services every Sunday.

Friends were round last week soliciting money for the purposes of bringing L. H. Helton to his home here from North Carolina who is down with fever. He had recently served a sentence in the penitentiary of that state for blockading near Dahlonega. After which he went to work and got sick.

Wm. Marr, the treasurer of Lumpkin county, died in Yahoola district on Thursday last week from the effects of a cancer which commenced its deadly work more than ten years ago. It was on his lower lip. He went far and near for remedies but got no relief, and it continued eating his flesh and injuring his health until finishing its work and ending the poor fellow of all pain and trouble here on earth. He was an unmarried man and made the house of his brother, John Marr, his home, who did everything he could to relieve and comfort the deceased in his long suffering. Mr. Marr was a poor man but as honest a one as ever lived in the county. The people of Lumpkin county gave him the office of treasurer through sympathy for he was uneducated, not being able to even write his name, but they felt that he needed help and could get a man that would look after the business of the office for him to the entire satisfaction of all, and at the same time be a help to the man whose life was gradually fading away.

Geo. Mooney was brought in and tried for lunacy on Thursday of last week and found to be a fit subject for the asylum, and has been sent off. This makes the third time that Mooney has been arrested for this offense and twice tried and recommended to be sent to the asylum. The first time, ten years ago, after his case had been passed upon he got better and it was decided to be useless to send him away, and he has acting very well and not considered dangerous until recently. Some few weeks ago the poor fellow became unwell and was brought in again and put in jail but the ordinary was unable to try him on account of sickness and he again got more quiet and was released. He inquired at that time that he was a minister and preached and talked all the time. This time he was more quiet, and had his watch and a sack of smoking tobacco tied to a string and hanging in front on his vest.

He also wore specks and said that he had power over earth, heaven and hell. He went down to New Bethel church Saturday and ate a couple of lunches he had in his pockets, during services. Afterwards he went to Mrs. David Patton, broke up her dishes and pot vessels and shot off his gun two or three times while standing in the door and yard. By these actions he kept the whole settlement alarmed.

Work on the big smelter for handling gold and copper near Atlanta is now in progress. The company has bought eighty acres of land at Oakdale nine miles west of Atlanta on the Southern railway. The sample department will be completed by the 15th of October and at that time the company will begin to buy ores. The freight rates on most roads will be about a dollar per ton for a hundred miles and the charge for treatment of ores will be made very low, so that it can be made to pay to ship low-grade ores. The ores must be shipped in cars loaded to their marked capacity, and consigned to the company at Oakdale, Ga. Shipments of ore will be sampled and complete analysis made without delay and assay certificate, together with sample of ore will be sent with check in full payment of ore shipment less freight and treatment charges. This method of business will prevail except in special contracts of large daily shipments.

Gen. Davis reports 1,000 dead and 100,000 hungry on the island of Porto Rico caused by the recent storm. Food and crops were destroyed and fifty thousand people are left homeless and hunger will increase instead of decreasing for several weeks.

Down in Colquitt county Mrs. H. W. Hears poured hot lead into her husband ear the other night while he was asleep. It woke the old man up and the doctors had some trouble in getting it out after it got cold.

Councilman Thomson of Atlanta, got choked last week by Mr. Atkinson for shooting off his mouth too much in an abusive and uncalled for manner. At the trial when he cooled down he admitted that Mr. Atkinson did right.

A Georgia editor writes as follows: "Many people in the country want to move to town; many people in town would like to live in the country as a rule, man's a fool when it is hot he wants it cool; when it is cool he wants it hot; always wanting what is not; never pleased with what he's got; as a rule man's a fool."

The government has been experimenting in relation to methods relating to crops and it is found that the damage from frost can be materially lessened by placing early and tender plants on high grounds and crests and harder plants in low grounds and hollows. Coal fires and smedgies are also recommended for this purpose.

A sensible husband said to his wife: "Susie, don't spend a cent with merchants who don't advertise." The wife, who was a business woman, replied: "You old goose, I learned better long ago not to go where I was not invited. You would be an old bachelor now if you had not invited me to be your wife. Catch me going to a store without an invitation; I guess not."—Ex.

Athens was visited last week by one of the most destructive storms ever known there. It is estimated that the damage to property in the city amounts to at least $10,000, while in the county corn and cotton were stripped by the hail and the crops ruined. Mary Echols, a colored woman in East Athens was killed by lightning in a crowded room and not another person in it injured.

To study the advantages of the South, especially from an agricultural standpoint, one should visit it during the summer months. Then the growing crops can be seen, vegetation is at its full development, and the stand of grains and grasses can be seen as they actually grow. The farmer of the South is at all times glad of the opportunity to meet the Northern farmer and show the country.—Ex.

A brother editor tells the story of a young bachelor sheriff who was called upon to serve an attachment on a handsome young widow. He called and said: "I have an attachment for you madam." She blushed and said the attachment was reciprocated. "You misunderstand," he said "you must proceed to court." She told him that this was not leap year, she had rather he would do the courting. He continued. This is no time for trifling. The justice is waiting; I prefer a minister," said she, "a squire married me the last time and I had bad luck."

THE NUGGET.

DAHLONEGA, SEPT. 1, '99.

Entered at the Dahlonega, Ga. P. O. as Second Class Matter.

All the indications point to a good corn crop in the West.

Editor Thomas of the Dawsonville Advertiser will hereafter have to eat his mush without milk as the stock law carried last week in the town district.

Last Friday lightning destroyed the Epworth Methodist church at Edgewood and two more buildings by setting them a fire. The church was valued at $4,000.

An exchange says that the fund for the building of Dewey a home in Washington City has nearly reached $20,000. Those poor soldiers who were with him and did all the active work will have to take shelter under a cheap tent.

An additional regiment of troops will be enlisted composed of colored men so as to give them a chance to fight for their country in the Philippine islands. Headquarters will be at McPherson. This will give many a white woman relief when they go away.

A small boy will run a barrel hoop with a stick up and down the streets for hours and never tire, but if required by his mother to bring in stove wood or draw a bucket of water he would take the headache or stomachache on the spot.—Ex.

After the negroes killed Marshal Townsend down at Darien the other day about 1,000 of them armed themselves. Governor Candler called out the troops and more than 40 of the leaders have been arrested and will be tried at a special term of the court.

A rich negro woman in Jamaica, N. Y. endeavored to send her children to the white school, although one was being taught in that place for children of her race, but they were refused. She carried it to the courts and they decided against her. So this high strung damsel will have to continue to mix and mingle with her own flock.

There is said to be a wonderful mineral spring near Lovet, Ga. The water and sand boils out a foot above the surface of the water. The bottom of this spring has never been found and what is a mystery a person can jump into it and sink to his heart but can go no farther. And what is a greater mystery these springs on a cloudy day can be heard for many miles bursting forth peal after peal of the loudest thunder.

It is still contended that there are about a couple millions of dollars in gold and silver buried about two miles this side of the Chattahoochee river, placed there by confederates during the late war, to keep the money from falling into hands of the federal army. Parties have been digging there for it repeatedly, but so far have not struck the right place.—Marietta Journal.—Come to Dahlonega and dig gold which does not have to be hunted and waste no more time.

A petition is being gotten up in Hall county asking Judge Estes to give the lynchers of St. Smith a speedy trial. A letter to the Atlanta Journal from Augustus Bell states that the two Bells and Towery are ready and anxious to come in and stand trial when the cases are called, or are given an opportunity to make bond, as they do not wish to remain in jail until the regular term of court, claiming that they are innocent. But the prosecutors are in no hurry for any trial as they think that additional testimony can be had later on that will be of much importance in the trial. From what we learn we have no idea that Judge Estes will convene any special session for this purpose as those of the party having been caught are safe and the others may be captured later on.

THE BESTWICK HALL, NOW BEING ERECTED BY THE TRUSTEES OF THE N. G. A. COLLEGE.

Mining Notes.

The Street vein has been struck again which is worth about $8 per ton.

The Atlanta Journal says that there is one mine near Dahlonega where they are taking out $3,500 of gold daily. This is untrue and we don't want any body to believe it.

Fred Wood, of Auraria, has just opened up a big vein on the Ruthford property near that place. Other good shows are being made on the same property of a very valuable nature.

Mr. Whorton is working along quietly down at the Calhoun mine and in a manner pleasing to all lovers of gold. We understand that his last clean-up was near 600 pennyweights.

Rev. David Stover, of Gilmer county, was over last Saturday with a nice lot of gold ore recently discovered on his brothers property in that county. It didn't require a magnifying glass in order to see the gold in the rock either.

crushing ore from these lots some time in the near future.

Everything down at the Hand is moving along like clock work. While the rock workmen are engaged on the foundation of one of the 60 stamp mills Mr. Scott has a good force of men putting up the timbers on the other. The two 60 stamp mills when completed will cover a space of ground 305x100 feet. The chlorination plant will be 50 feet wide and 120 long. The large 10x10 foot tunnel was cut through last week and the hands are engaged now in blasting out for the mud sills and putting up the timbers in a space of about twenty feet which was left untimbered before they cut through for fear they would not meet from both sides correctly but they did and it is one of the nicest, largest and longest tunnels in this whole up country. An actual measurement since its completion shows it to be three hundred and seventy-one feet and nine inches. This was not cut for gold but to convey the ore from the Yahoola in electric cars to the plant, from a foot vein at different places on the property. A creek runs through the lot with shoals sufficient to furnish all the water power necessary for a ten stamp mill, and if the owner had the means to work it properly no doubt it would pay him handsome profits.

McDonald and Spriggs have struck it rich on the celebrated Battle Branch property. A small rock from the vein brought to Dahlonega last week was speckled with gold and was supposed by an old miner to contain about fifteen pennyweights. This property was worked by Silas Gayden some fifteen years ago who was very successful. He got at one time thirteen hundred and fifty pennyweights out of a seven foot space from one vein.

Jack and John Norrel, who have been working the Briar Patch property for two years or more for Howell & Miller are still on hand supervising the work under the direction of Mr. Cravens who has recently secured an option on the same. These two brothers certainly made it pan while operating it for Messrs. Howell & Miller. The least clean up was 315 pennyweights and the largest 450, which gives an idea of what has been done by their two years work. The "topplings" grows deeper and Mr. Craven's company will put in a pump so as to furnish all the water necessary to work the deposit anywhere on the property desired.

Bryson and Loggins, who were recently employed to prospect twelve lots of land a short distance from Auraria, owned by Samuel Stanbaugh and six other relatives of his, made many valuable discoveries, which will no doubt be the cause of a stamp mill being erected for the purpose of working the same in the near future, as the Chestatee river runs through a mile and a half of the property, affording all the water power necessary for mining purposes. The formation is soft, causing Mr. Stanbaugh to be very anxious for the others to consent in assisting him in putting up the necessary machinery to work it.

Chas. C. Jones, who has had a number of hands developing "Lot No. 10," in White county, dropped in to see us while in Dahlonega last week and upon being asked about the progress of work on his property replied that he had opened up quite a number of valuable veins on it. The Glen or Fisher vein is very large. The openings on this show it to be from 20 to 30 feet wide, and enough work has been done on it to expose at least 40,000 tons of ore. An actual mill test of this large vein shows it to be worth $8 per ton, and a portion of the vein assays $200 per ton. Prof. Yeates, state Geologist, says that it is one of the biggest and best veins in the gold belt. The owner is getting ready to make shipments to the smelter which is now in course of construction near Atlanta. On the 4th page of this issue will be found a more extended notice of this and other mines near Nacoochee which Mr. Jones says is correct.

PHOTOGRAPH SHOWING PROGRESS OF WORK ON THE LARGE MILL AT THE HAND MINE, TAKEN ON THE 25TH ULT.

If you wish a correct weekly report of the mining operations in and around Dahlonega send one dollar for a years subscription to the NUGGET. Its editor does not try to create any sensational mining news but gives the unvarnished facts.

The Dawsonville Advertiser reports the London Gold Mining Co. of that county as doing well. It says that handsome clean-ups are being made at this mine. This company received its charter at the last term of the superior court of that county and has gone into business right.

Down at the Stewart mine they have not been able to run their mill on full time for like of water to furnish it ore, but now they are getting things in shape to run it all the time. A pump has been put in to put water into a reservoir and a giant will be used to force the water from this point to the mine.

W. T. Bryson and John Hollifield are engaged in opening the Fry property. They find both large and small veins and the formation soft. One sulphuretted vein assays $200 per ton. This property contains six and one-fourth lots with a shoal and splendid water power on the same and can be easily and profitably worked and quite likely a stamp mill will be although some veins were struck during its progress.

As it was reported that a chance would be made in the management of the Big Joe mine the first of this month we consulted the general manager the other day who informed us that if there was any thing of this kind on foot he knew nothing about it. He stated that they had the hoister in place and would have the concentrator in position by the 10th inst. Then operation would begin at this mine on a much larger scale than heretofore.

We understand that men are engaged in developing the Bigbee property in the lower part of the county owned by H. D. Jaquish, of Gainesville. Several good shows have been made on a lead known as the Pigeon Roost belt. It is useless to take up time and space to try to explain its value for the name of the belt is sufficient for all Lumpkin county native miners to know what it is. Teal and Loggins are opening up some fine shows on Turkey Hill property both in vein and placer diggings.

Geo. Wilson has just discovered some new diggings in Mill Creek district in Lumpkin county on a different belt heretofore known. He had a large quantity of rich ore the other day exhibiting, taken

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. # THE NUGGET.

DAHLONEGA, GA., SEPT. 1, '99

The farmers are now engaged in saving their fodder.

A full line of furniture, springs, mattresses, etc., just received at Halls.

Luther Hightower has been confined to his bed for more than a couple of weeks.

G. McGuire has already commenced repairing the property he recently purchased which belonged to the Hughes estate.

At J. F. Moores you will find all kinds of bed springs, woven wire cots, upholstered cots, and all kinds of mattresses from $1.50 to $5.00.

Miss Katie and Master Frank, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Thomson, left Monday to visit their grand mother in the North to be gone about a couple of months.

We don't care how many thieves there are in a place you may leave out as many hoes and coffins that you want to at night and they will never be touched. This has been tried in Dahlonega.

Mrs. R. C. Thomson and Miss Gertrude Mailer left this week for Tallulah Falls and Asheville, N. C., expecting to be gone some two months, until Mr. Thomson gets his new dwelling completed.

Perline, potash, lye, bluing, blacking, ink, maulage, writing paper, pepper, spice, ginger, cloves, extracts, best green and black tea, and articles too numerous to mention at Copelands.

Most of the past month has been the warmest weather we have experienced for many long years, the heat being so severe as to cause a number of hands at the works to have to drop out. August certainly represented the Sunny South.

We notice among the Hall House arrivals this week the name of J. R. Palmer and wife of Lula, Ga., who have rented the Gaddis house and will move to Dahlonega in a week or so. Mr. Palmer is a mechanic who has been working for the Southern road but he finds wages better in Dahlonega.

Deputy Collector Crawford and Deputy Marshal Grizzle went up into Chestatee district last week and interferred with the blackedets of that locality considerably. They destroyed two illicit distilleries, catching Ben Rayan and his wife at work in one of them. Ben was brought to town and a way fixed for him to see Judge Newman in Atlanta later on, while his wife was left at home to rejoice over the thoughts of escaping going the same way on account of being a woman.

The other night while a negro was lighting up the street lamp at the Methodist church some mischievous fellow came along and threw his cigarette into the gasoline cup. The fluid blazed up and when the negro tried to blow it out the fire relieved him of his eye, throws and lathers, making such a change in his appearance that his girl didn't recognize him the next time he went to see her causing her to give him a kick which nearly broke the poor fellows heart. He didn't recognize the one who did it and the marshal was powerless to do anything.

Dr. J. G. Grover, wife and two children, of Waverly, Ohio, arrived in Dahlonega last week. The doctor is recommended to be one of the best dentists in the state of Ohio who, we are glad to learn, has come with the intention of locating in our midst and hanging out his shingle. Heretofore Dahlonega has had no resident dentist and we trust that Dr. Grover will receive such patronage as to justify him in remaining in Dahlonega the rest of his life. A first class dentist is what is needed here and giving one a liberal patronage is the way to get and keep one.

Get your boy a little wagon at Halls.

You can find the genuine mackerel at Copelands.

M. J. Williams has his other house completed and the same occupied.

New fodder made its first appearance in Dahlonega first of the week and brought one dollar and a half.

Our line of fancy and staple groceries is complete. We can please you in goods and save you money in prices. E. S. COPELAND.

Col. R. N. Bryson has been over in Union county for several days looking after some lands in that section owned by Col. W. A. Charters.

J. F. Moore has just received a nice line of reflector and all other kinds of lamps, brass tubular lanterns, etc. Also a lot of paper and other shades.

Why is it that our subscribers at Land, Hall county, can't get their NUGGET on Saturday like they used to, instead of Wednesday? Their papers are put in the mail bag every Friday morning.

J. N. DuPree has rented the Hope building, which has recently been put in good shape by Capt. Hall, with the purpose of running a boarding house for students. He will also keep the one he now occupies.

Rev. Geo. K. Porter, of Dixon, Ga., came up this week to help the pastor conduct the protracted meeting at the M. E. Church, which began last Monday night, but the rain set in interfering with its progress to some extent.

The revenue officials discovered another illicit distillery this week. The last one was above Jacob Cains, near Porter Springs. So those who have been taking a toddy of liquor made from this still will have to use mineral water now.

Dr. Cotter, of Macon, is at Hall's Villa where he expects to spend a month or more. The Doctor has been spending some time every year at Porter Springs, and went up there this time, but decided to return to Dahlonega and remain as long as he can be away from his business.

A letter received from Mrs. E. B. Vickery last Monday, who has been in Chicago most of the time since her husband's sickness, says that they will be at home some time this month, the exact date Mrs. Vickery cannot state as he is gaining strength very slowly. He could sit propped up in the bed a little when the letter was written.

Hands have been engaged for near a month in repairing the small bridges and causeways between here and Gainesville so as to enable them to haul the heavy machinery from that place belonging to the chlorination plant near Dahlonega to its destination safely. The authorities of Hall county not being willing for the heaviest pieces to be brought over the iron bridge forced the company to have rock and gravel hauled into Shallow Ford so as to enable them to cross the Chattahoochee river. This is being done this week.

Arch Anderson, while attending the Baptist Association the other Sunday got into a very embarrassing condition. At night he went home with some girls to spend the evening with an old acquaintance. After chatting until a late hour they all retired for the night. After Arch had gone to bed it was so warm he became restless and decided to get up and slip out into the yard and remain awhile where it was cool. He had not landed but a few minutes before the dog discovered him and Arch had to climb a peach tree in haste in order to escape the powerful jaws. The dog barked so long that one of the young ladies came out to see what it meant and looked up in the tree and by the light of the moon discovered the man resting on a limb in his night suit.

When we wrote the article on the first page it was intended for Mooney to be sent to the asylum immediately but the authorities there haven't agreed to receive him yet.

The bridge across the Yahoola creek near Col. Baker's farm gave way Tuesday were one of the Saterfields was crossing it. Light vehicles have since crossed it but it is dangerous. The ordinary will have it repaired and made safe at once.

The Hall Mds Co. has just added several thousand dollars worth of goods to its already large stock consisting of many articles that have never been brought to this market before, such as guns, pistols and all kinds of sporting goods. Go and examine them.

Last Monday while a negro was rolling a wheelbarrow along the trestle at the Hand mine loaded with rock, he stumbled and the barrow and load fell on Robt. Burns a distance of ten or twelve feet, who was at work below, cutting a deep ugly gash in his head, which bled very freely and caused him to have to suspend work.

Ordinary Tate is getting ready to make the changes in the court room suggested by Judge Estes at the last term of the court so as to give more room and make things more convenient. He also has an inclination of building the much talked of vault on the first floor of the building. Mr. George will furnish the estimate of the cost of the vault as soon as he can get prices on doors, which have recently advanced in price.

The other day Geo. Fris, residing in the Western part of the county was seriously if not dangerously injured by being thrown from his mule. He had a dog tied with a line which he fastened to the horn of his saddle. He had scarcely got seated when the dog began to rear up and pull back, which scared the mule, whose owner was soon on the ground and unable to get up before the animal stepped on his breast injuring him to such an extent as to cause his relatives and friends to be alarmed.

The man Abbott, who disappeared in the upper edge of this county on the evening of the second Sunday in July, causing the people to become alarmed and think that he had been foully dealt with and hid in some hole, was heard from last Saturday. He was in North Carolina raising taxes at a protracted meeting, little thinking that the people behind thought enough of him to spend two or three days searching every old tunnel and shaft in the whole country. At one time they were certain that they had found the place where he was hid by the presence of a few green flies, but when they went down and cleaned out the shaft they found nothing except a few dead frogs.

The proper papers were procured and a wedding looked to take place by Memory Sain and Dora, daughter of Thomas Ward, residing near the foot of the Blue Ridge, a few days ago. The old man got wind of it who placed his daughter in a room, doctored the door and kept the key in his pocket until the girl consented to remain under his roof instead of marrying a lad of only eighteen summers. This, of course was bad news to the young man who came so near donning the matrimonial robe, more especially after losing $1.50 and so much of his time. The young man didn't commit suicide but left either for Banks or Jackson county to remain until he can wear his troubles off and be able to look back towards the Blue Ridge without shedding tears.

Single copies of NUGGETS 5c.

There has been quite a change in the weather this week, being much cooler.

Ex-town marshal Blackwell, who has been sick for some time, was able to be out again last week.

Bring or send in your orders for letterheads and envelopes to this office if you wish them done neat and cheap.

Fresh line of confectioneries at Copelands. Also a fresh assortment of snowflake crackers, soda crackers, ginger snaps, &c.

John Thomaston of Ball Ground, came over last week on a visit to relatives. His wife and other members of the family have been here some time.

The miners were all rained out this week. Some of them complain of not having enough water, but this came in a manner so as to render them unable to utilize it.

It is expected that Judge Estes will be here to-morrow and court opened long enough for him to grant a charter to the Crown Mountain Milling and Mining Co.

The foot bridge on Main street has been run over by mules and horses until it has gotten to be in a shaky condition, even attracting the attention of jokers while taking moonlight walks over it. It is needing repairs badly.

Quite a number of pleasure seekers passed through Dahlonega last Tuesday in hacks, buggies and wagons from Atlanta on their way to the mountains. Their pleasures were somewhat marred however by an east rain setting in Tuesday.

S. S. Smith, of Long Branch, sent us this week a nice, large well flavored pear of the Keifer variety. Mr. Smith has not been to our town for a number of years but this kind remembrance proves that he knows where the editor stays when he has anything good.

A little three-year-old child of Ed. McDonald was badly scalded one day last week by sitting down in a bucket of hot water where its mother was scolding her things in the house. Fortunately the water was not very hot also it might have died, although the little one was bilingual wherever the water touched it.

One day this week while John W. Walden was digging out the foundation for Capt. Hall's storage building on the Hope flat, he found a pair of little shoes and some pieces of cloth in the firm earth some three feet below the surface. How they came there will always be a mystery. It was first supposed to be a grave but if it was no bones could be found.

J. E. McGee, who has been acting as county treasurer, will continue to do so until an election is ordered by Judge Tate to fill the vacancy caused by the death of county treasurer Marr. This will be ordered on the first Monday in September, regular ordinary's court day, and will take place 30 days thereafter. Those who didn't register for the last election wishing to vote in this election will have to register, and these only.

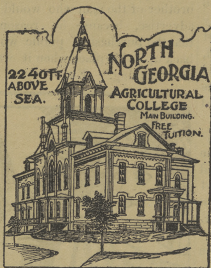

A negro soldier rigged up in his uniform, buying a gun and all necessary war equipments, appeared in Dahlonega Tuesday. We do not know why he traveled this way unless he had heard of a home prepared for Dewey and was in search to see if there wasn't one fitted up for him too. There was no kind of a reception given him even by any of his race and he wended his way onward looking very much disappointed.

We have already heard of at least half a dozen different persons spoken for county treasurer to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Wm. Marr. Send in your names and money and let the people know who you are through the columns of this paper. Remember the time is short and you won't have time to see the people. The NUGGET will visit nearly every voters home and tell them how bad you want the office, if you will only make the proper beginning.

Education in Lumpkin.

To all who are interested in the future of the rising generation, it must be of interest to observe that in educational facilities Lumpkin county is coming steadily to the front. Never before has the instruction of the youth of our section received so substantial a stimulus as in the two years past. The educational system of our county is now fast becoming a perfect unit, offering to every child in the county—and to others—the opportunity of pursuing—through the public schools of the county, the excellent new graded system of the town, and through the college—a thorough course of education through all its degrees—elementary, secondary and collegiate. With such advantages within easy grasp, no child in the county should be without the benefits of wholesome intellectual, moral and industrial education, by which he may become fitted for living a better, fuller, happier and more successful life.

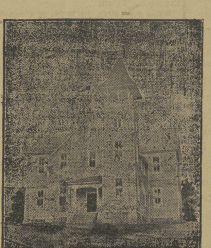

THE COLLEGE.
The North Georgia Agricultural College has long and justly been the pride, not only of Dahlonega and of Lumpkin county but of this section of the State; and its enrollment of students is largely increased from all other parts of this and from neighboring states. A larger attendance is expected for the session about to commence than it has had in any period of its history. It is an excellent institution, justly respected throughout Georgia and neighboring states.

THE NEW GRADED SCHOOL.
The new graded school system (white and colored) of the town has been a long felt want, and for this reason, demands at present the greatest interest and consideration of the people of Dahlonega and the vicinity. 172 pupils have been enrolled in the white school and more are expected to enter at the beginning of the session. With its equipment and organization, the nucleus has been formed for its being extended, with the growth and expansion of the town, into a large and approximately perfect system, providing naturally for the addition of other departments—high, industrial, &c.—as means are afforded. The colored school is organized under the same system and supervision.

The public schools are entirely free to all children between the ages of 6 and 18, inclusive, residing within the corporate limits of the town. Pupils not living in the town, and those above 15 years of age, will be charged the moderate sum of $1.00 per month.

Every parent should see that his children enjoy the excellent privileges thus held out to them.

THE COUNTY SCHOOL SYSTEM.
Through the special care of Col. W. P. Price, President of the county board of education, the county school system is fast attaining to greater efficiency, especially with respect to equipment and, consequently, the type of instruction. There are now near 40 schools in the county. Col. Price is now engaged in equipping all these schools with the best modern school requisites and facilities—maps, globes, charts, thermometers, &c.—things which, while enhancing the interest of the pupils, are indispensable as tools of the instructor.

To Parents and School Patrons.

The first annual session of the Dahlonega Public School will begin next Tuesday, Sept. 5. It will be more satisfactory to all concerned if parents will allow their children to enter on the first day and be required to be punctual in attendance throughout the year.

The attention of parents is respectfully called to the fact that those pupils who are absent of tardy several consecutive days without sufficient excuse will not be permitted to remain in the school. There have already been enrolled 172 pupils—more than the present seating capacity—but all who enter will be accommodated if possible. Only those pupils however who attend school the first day will be sure of securing desks, others will be permitted to provide themselves with tables and chairs.

The morning session will extend from 8:30 to 12 o'clock; the afternoon session from 1 to 3. Pupils will be governed in coming to school by the ringing of the school bell, the first signal being sounded 30 minutes before each session begins. Pupils will not be permitted to assemble on the school premises before these signals are sounded. Monday will be the weekly holiday instead of Saturday. No tuition fee is charged pupils between the ages of 6 and 18 inclusive, who live within the corporate limits of the town. Pupils 18 and all who live outside of the town will be charged tuition at the rate of $1.00 for each month or fractional part thereof and this tuition must be paid in advance each month to the Treasurer of the Board, Mr. J. F. Moore, and a receipt therefor presented regularly to the principal.

In the administration of the school the teachers earnestly solicit the co-operation of all their patrons.

It was the intention of the Dahlonega Railroad Company to purchase the Chattahoochee water power controlled by D. E. Evans, and carry out a scheme Gainesville which this gentleman had on foot but as Gainesville does not wish to open her door to capitalists President Adams wrote Mr. Evans the following letter from Toledo Ohio, last week. However, this had so connection with the Dahlonega electric car line. They can either use the Price route or run it to Belton where one is wanted. The citizens all along the line are willing and anxious to extend a helping hand. He says: "Owing to the modification required by your people concerning the proposed electric road and the necessary increased expense required I found it necessary to come here for conference with parties who had the matter under consideration and I regret to say that I have been instructed by them to inform you that they deem it best under all the circumstances to postpone further action for the present which will of course leave you free to place the deal with other parties if you desire to do so. If it is quite possible they may be able to take the matter up again at a later date provided the way should be open for doing so. But for the opposition which developed while the parties were there the deal might have been speedily closed. As matters now stand they prefer postponing further action for the present. You will please advise this to Mr. Dunlap and others."

Mrs. Felton Speaks.

Mrs. Dr. W. H. Felton, Cartersville, addressed the farmers in Telfair county last week and said that she had come to say something in the hope of brightening home life in the country and to send a word of cheer through the State for the farmer's wife.

In speaking of the toils, cares and trials of farmer's wives, Mrs. Felton spoke with much feeling, and her audience was much affected by what she said. She referred sarcastically to the lord of creation strutting round and complaining about breakfast or this or that thing, when the poor wife was working like a slave from year's end to year's end.

Mrs. Felton said that the men who go to town and talk about "my farm" and "my crop" ought to make a crop without the help of their wives, and they would learn to say "our farm" and "our crop." She said that every farmer ought to cultivate a little crop for his wife and give her the proceeds for her very own.

She had much to say of the treatment of children and a more liberal allowance for the wife and little ones. She said it would make everything go better. Mrs. Felton drew a picture of a poor wife in her coffin after working herself to death on the farm, and declared that three-fourths of the women in the asylum were farmer's wives.

The New York Journal pays this tribute to the South in respect to her educational endeavors: "The South will work out its own social and political destiny. Its people very properly resent the the interference of outsiders. They came out of the war impoverished, their homes destroyed, their schools and colleges in many instances burned. They began life over again under the most adverse circumstances. That they have built up thriving communities and added to their material wealth in the face of disaster is proof that they have in them the qualities that will master the problems that confront them."

A Witty Scholar.

The late Professor Key, when head master of a large London school, was one of the most genial gentlemen that ever filled that position. He was fond of encouraging fun in his boys and was not unwilling to recount occasionally during class time when anything prompted it, the manners and customs of countries he had visited. On one occasion he was telling his class about Spain and said:

"Do you know, boys that when a man attains to eminence there he is not called 'sir,' but is given the title of 'don'?"

One of the boys here called out: "Then, I suppose, sir, they would call you Don-Key?"

The gravity of the class was completely upset for the remainder of the afternoon.—Strand Magazine.

Ingersoll on Love.

Love is the only bow on life's dark cloud. It is the morning and the evening star. It shines upon the babe and sheds its radiance upon the quiet tomb. It is the mother of art inspirer of poet, patriot and philosopher. It is the air and light of every heart. It fills the world with melody—for music is the voice of love. Love is the magician, the enchanter, that changes worthless things to joy, and makes right royal kings and queens of common clay. It is the perfume of that wonderful flower, the heart, and without that sacred passion, that divine swoon, we are less than beasts; but with it earth is heaven, and we are gods.

Roscoe Wells Davis, who owns an immense sheep ranch in Texas, and who is worth several million dollars, has become a private in the thirty-third infantry, and will accompany his regiment to the Philippines. The millionaire private rode 185 miles on horseback in order to enlist.

While preparations are being made in New York to give Dewey a $3,000,000 banquet, hundreds of children in that city are crying for bread.

Running for Office.

The following is an expense account of a defeated candidate:

Lost 4 months 33 days pony-riding, 1,349 hours thinking about the election, 5 acres of cotton, 25 acres of corn, a whole sweet potato crop, 4 sheep, 4 goats and 1 beef given to barbecue, 2 front teeth and a considerable quantity of hair in personal skirmish. Gave 97 plugs of tobacco, 7 Sunday school books, 2 pairs of suspenders, 4 cat-cos dresses, 7 dolls and 13 baby rattlers. Told 2,889 lies, shook hands with 23,476, talked enough to have made in print 1,000 large volumes size of patent office reports, kindled 14 kitchen fires, cut 3 cords of wood, pulled 474 bundles of fodder, picked 746 pounds of cotton, helped to fill 6 wagon loads of corn, dug 14 bushels of potatoes, toted 27 buckets of water, put up 7 stoves, was dog bit 4 times, watch broken by baby, which cost $3.00 to have repaired. Loaned out 3 barrels of flour, 20 bushels of meal, 150 lbs of bacon, 57 pounds of butter, 42 dozen eggs, 3 umbrellas, 13 lead pencils, 1 Bible dictionary, 1 mowing blade, 2 hoes, 1 overcoat, 2 boxes paper collars none of which have been returned. Called my opponent a perambulating liar, doctor's bill $10. Had 5 arguments with my wife, result, 1 flower vase smashed, 1 broom handle broken, 1 dish of hash knocked off the table, 1 shirt bosom ruined, 1 handful of whiskers pulled out; 10 cents worth of sticking plaster bought. Besides spending $1,768.—Ex.

We see from the Atlanta Constitution that Mr. Henry F. De Barleben, one of the greatest iron men of Alabama, or of the south for that matter, has recently come to Georgia with a lot of money, and has made extensive purchases of iron ore lands in Polk county. His efforts now are directed toward obtaining 10,000 acres of fine iron ore lands near Cedartown, and lying between the city and Cave Spring. Through his agents he has already bought over 4,000 acres, and in a few more days several thousand acres will be added to the valuable tracts he now owns.

DAHLONEGA, SEPT. 8, '99.
Entered at the Dahlonega, Ga. P. O.
as Second Class Matter.

The Eagle says that the small-pox in Gainesville is a thing of the past.

Sheriff W. N. Barnes of Fannin county, died last week of typhoid fever.

Clark county roads are to be macadamized, costing about $1,700 per mile.

The Nugget and either the Atlanta Constitution or Journal one year for $1.75.

The yellow fever has broke out in New Orleans. Also at Jacksonville, Fla.

The populists of Massachusetts will hold no convention but will endorse the democrats.

Three regiments, Kansas, Washington and Nevada, are on their way home from Manila.

The insurgents made an unsuccessful attack to drive the Americans out of Angeles on the 2nd inst.

The Adventist church in Gainesville was struck by lightning one day last week, but the damages were small.

Last Monday was Labor Day in Atlanta. Every day is labor day up here with the hands who work in the mines.

The Dawsonville Advertiser reports only one knock down on Sunday of Lumpkin camp meeting in that county.

Col. W. S. Albright, of Ottawa, Ohio, says that he is going to build a railroad from Chattanooga, Tenn., to Wauhatchie, S. C. It will pass through the counties of Calhoun, Whitfield, Murray, Fannin, Union, Town and Rabun counties in Georgia.

There will be no negro regiment gotten up as the secretary states that there has never been any intention of sending one to the Philippines. So this will be a great disappointment to many of the colored people who take such a delight in wearing a uniform.

Another railroad charter is being advertised for the construction of a road from Charleston, S. C., to Chattanooga, Tenn. It is proposed to run this road through the following counties in Georgia: Richmond, Columbia, McDuffie, Lincoln, Wilkes, Oglethorpe, Clarke, Jackson, Hall, Forsyth, Dawson, Cherokee, Pickens, Gilmer, Gordon, Murray, Whitfield and Coosa.

Two sailors brought to Charleston, S. C., last Saturday told a horrible tale of how they suffered during and after a wreck in the hurricane of the straits of Florida on August 11th. Eight men clung to a raft and were drifted out. This was broke in two and all were drowned except two. Before this accident happened they were without food or water causing the death of one whose heart was stabbed and the rest drank his blood.

Last week Attorney General Torrell was presented with a claim of $90,000 against Georgia for the first time by the counsel of George H. Kenfield, of Washington, who alleges that the state owes him for arms and ammunition furnished shortly before the secession of Georgia. Georgia will not have to pay it even if it is due as it is impossible under the constitution of the United States to collect such a debt at present, says the attorney general.

For more than a week court has been in session trying the 40 negro rioters who created so much disturbance at Darien after some of them killed Marshal Townsend. During this time the court house yard has been full of militia ordered there by Governor Chandler. Judge Seabrook has decided to try the murderers in Etchings county as he says that he does not favor trying capital cases in a court house that shades the military.

Mining Notes.

We understand that operations will soon be resumed at the Mary Henry mine.

Development work is going on all over the county which is the proper way for those having mineral property for sale.

There is great activity in mining now throughout Lumpkin county causing capitalists in all parts of the county to have their eyes on Dahlonega.

J. E. Moore, one of the owners of the Big Joe returned from that mine with a nice lot of gold ore which showed much of the precious metal.

James Rice and James Davis are still working away deposit mining on Tanyard Branch. The two cleaned up 50 pennyweights for the month of August which was recovered from old diggings.

We have made arrangements by which we can furnish our readers weekly mining views for some time to come. This will give a better idea of the mines than can otherwise be explained to those interested.

PANNING GOLD.

Our view this week shows the manner in which nearly every gold mine is discovered. When striking a vein the miner crushes some of it in a mortar and then carries it to some branch where it is panned to ascertain whether it will pay to work it. Then if the ore is found to be valuable it pleases the discoverer to carry a panful to the water occasionally to see if it grows richer as he goes down on the vein while spectators gather around to help him rejoice over the rich find.

A correspondent writing to the Nugget from Dawson county says: The Barrettsville mine, situated about one mile north of the little town of Barrettsville, south of the Highwater river in Dawson county, opened up with ten stamps for work about three months ago under the supervision of H. P. Strickland, an experienced gold miner who has already made a successful development of the vein in five different places, and the prospects are very promising for one among the richest mines in north-east Georgia. Among other drift, about thirty-five feet under ground, the chute is some six feet wide and good paying material, and the other one shows to be richer than the one above described. The company opening up this mine compose a portion of the Consolidated Company at Dahlonega, having ample means to operate it successfully, and the citizens of this section are pleased with its opening. The branches around here have been worked at for several years and it has all along been thought that there were rich veins in this section because in many places very rich deposits have been found.

The increase in the price of iron is causing investors to move out in every direction almost where they think there is a chance to purchase any property containing iron ore in paying quantities. Only a few days ago Col. E. C. Beardsley, Chief Superintendent and general agent of Va. Iron, Coal and Cook Co., of Bristol, Tenn. and Va., was in Elberton. It is said that Mr. Beardsley's syndicate has a cool sum of $2,000,000 to purchase iron property, and will ask only fifty days at the outside to pay for

A survey is being made now in Yahoala district so as to get a still larger supply of water at the Hand mine.

The clean-up at the Singleton for the month of August was very satisfactory, says Mr. J. E. Moore who is operating it.

It won't be but a short while now until a new company is organized and water pumped from the Chastate river for the purpose of working Crozer Mountain within a half mile of the court house lying right in the heart of the gold belt.

We understand that the Dahlonega Consolidated Co's pay roll amounted to $6,000 for the month of August. This gives an idea of the amount of good this large mining enterprise is doing the laboring class and helping the country generally.

The Dawsonville Advertiser of last week says: "Messrs. J. P. Stegall, of Emerson, J. H. Vivian, of Cartersville, and H. F. Russell Howland, of London, England, passed through our city Tuesday enroute to the gold fields of Lumpkin county, where the former gentleman owns some valuable gold property."

all property purchased by them. Let the citizens of Lumpkin county who own iron property wake up to a sense of their duty and let it be known to those wishing to invest through the columns of the local press without delay that they possess such valuable property right here in Lumpkin county.

The Graded School Opens.

The first session of the Graded School in Dahlonega began last Tuesday morning with Prof. J. M. Martin as principal, assisted by Misses Lizzie Chapman and Belle Thurin.

It is certainly a pleasure to both parents and children to know for the first time in the history of Dahlonega she has an institution of this kind with its doors thrown wide open to the children of the town, inviting them to come and drink at the fountain of education which flows freely to every boy and girl between the ages of six and eighteen living within its borders. The citizens are proud of her able corps of teachers and are thankful to the trustees for having constructed such an elegant building which is both convenient and comfortable, situated in one of the prettiest places in town.

Our town has had no school house since the old Academy was taken away from the children, by being sold and the proceeds given to the N. G. A. College years ago, causing instructed us to have to teach in any houses they could procure which often were uncomfortable and injurious to the health of the occupants. For more than a quarter of a century the people of Dahlonega have been using every effort for the college, preparing a place for the young ladies and young men of Georgia as well as other states, and at the same time neglecting their own children right here at home, until a few months ago. This change in their behalf is enough to cause rejoicing.

The instructors of this institution are highly educated, being graduates of the leading colleges of Georgia, thus enabling them to carry out the task that is before them successfully. Miss Belle Thurin has charge of the 1st and 2nd grade, and Miss Lizzie Chapman the 3rd and 4th and the principal looks after the 5th and 6th, and keeps an eye over the whole departments. There are so many pupils that it may be necessary to add another teacher later on.

The colored Graded school didn't commence until Wednesday.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has discovered Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and there fore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and in mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials Address

Eyaporated California peaches for sale at E. S. Cope-lands.

G. McGuire is moving his house back on a line with the street.

Mooney, the lunatic, was carried to the asylum last Wednesday by Will Rice.

Eggs are 25 cents a dozen in Atlanta and prospects for still a higher price.

A rattlesnake's pilot was shot in Lou Williams' house in town Wednesday.

Remember that Dr. C. A. Ryder, the well known dentist will be in Dahlonega on the 11th inst.

N. P. Pirkle of Forsyth county will sing at Yahoola church on the 3rd Sunday at 9 o'clock everybody invited.

Messrs. Packard, of Turkey Hill, and Whorton, of the Calhoun, were both in Dahlonega on Monday.

Blue Mountain Lodge No. 38, will have a call meeting tomorrow night. Business of importance to transact.

Judge Tate will assess the taxes next week. He thinks that both the state and county taxes will be $1.10 on the hundred.

Bartow Parks, a former student of the N. G. A. college, after spending several years in the West was in Dahlonega this week.

J. W. Walker has announced his name for County Treasurer. He is fully competent to fill the office and will make the track warm for his opponents.

While Cicero Wallace was examining the machinery of a pistol the other night it went off and the ball skinned the top part of his right forefinger.

Henry Duncan, who has been in jail here some time charged with stealing an umbrella, escaped last Wednesday. The sheriff was absent and while Mrs. Davis was letting out a negro who had been cleaning out the cell occupied by Mooney, the lunatic, Duncan ran out and was soon on the ground and out of sight.

It is an evident fact that Gainesville wouldn't give fifteen cents for a railroad from that place to Dahlonega, but still some of our citizens will give her merchants every cent that they can rake and scrape for goods instead of patronizing their home merchants who they call upon for assistance when getting into a tight. We don't want to "burden" that place with the electric line which she does not want and we hope the company will yet decide to run it to Belton or some other point where her citizens will not shut their doors to capital.

PRACTICAL DENTISTRY: It gives the NUGGET great pleasure this week to announce to its many readers that Dr. J. J. Grove, D. M. D., has opened up his office in the room over the store of Mr. James Tate, on the square and is prepared to do all kinds of dentistry, at reasonable rates and to the satisfaction of his patrons. Dr. Grove is a graduate of Harvard College, and is moreover removed to Dahlonega with his family for the purpose of making this place his permanent home. The NUGGET is in favor, as are all good citizens in patronizing home institutions. Dr. Grove is one of these. Be sure that you call upon him when you need anything in this line. He is bound to give you satisfaction.

The weather continues hot.

Mrs. E. E. Crisson has been sick for several days.

Solicitor Charters is courting in Clarksville this week.

Mrs. Ansted has been absent several days this week on a visit.

Judge Tate had the Yahoola bridge repaired and it can now be crossed safely.

Ike Lipatine, made a visit to Dahlonega this week for the first time in many months. He was gladly welcomed by his many friends here.

Dr. C. A. Ryder, of Gainesville, will be in Dahlonega Monday, the 11th day of September, 1899, at the Hall House, for the purpose of doing dental work in all of its branches. He will be ready early Monday morning.

Judge Tate refused to approve the sheriff's account of about $30 for dieting prisoners where they were let out and made trustees of to some extent. The ordinary says that the key must be kept turned on prisoners if any pay is expected from the county.

Your attention is called to the announcement of Mr. T. F. Jackson for county treasurer to be found in another column. This old gentleman is too well known to receive any comment from us. He has served in this capacity before and did his work well.

Your attention is called to commissioner's sale elsewhere. This is valuable mineral property lying near Auraria. It is no gold mine that is being sold out for any debt, but goes to sale for the purpose of a division. No doubt it will bring a good price as some valuable discoveries have already been made on it.

The protracted meeting closed at the Methodist church last Sunday night after four additions were made to the church. The first few days of the meeting were so muddy and rainy that no one could attend. The pastor is now at Auraria carrying on a protracted meeting which commenced last Wednesday.

Last Monday was set apart for the ordinary to pass upon the new road to Porter Springs via Spencer's mills, some twelve or fifteen citizens who were interested and opposed to it came in and convinced the Judge that it was not needed. So the new road "went dead" and people will have to continue traveling the old one as they have been doing for many years.

Dr. Howard, who attended Loudsville campmeeting, returned here last Monday and reported it as being a very interesting religious gathering. Thirty-five joined the church. No disturbance occurred except a fellow threw one rock on the harbor who was arrested, but let go after being held all night by promising the preachers that he would not do so any more.

It is said that at least 200 guests have visited Porter Springs in the upper edge of Lumpkin county this summer. They have been coming and going all the time, but as the season has about come to an end the crowd is considerably reduced—probably not more than twenty or twenty-five are up there now. When such a crowd as this is willing to ride near thirty miles in hacks and carriages in order to reach this favorite summer resort what would it be if Dahlonega, which is less than ten miles distant, had a railroad?

The other morning Jule Townsend reported to the neighbors that there must be some body dead in the loft of her house for the green flies were there in a perfect swarm and whatever it was stank so she couldn't stand it. One of her brothers went up to make an investigation and discovered what he supposed to be a child's skull. We guess he was mistaken. We have an idea that it was a haunt which had appeared there some night during one of those happy "trappings" or "funny occasions" and died right on the spot of disgust and shame.

Eggs are selling here at from 12 to 15 cents per dozen.

Mr. McDuffie, of Atlanta is busily engaged here now in manufacturing the brick for the Bostwick Hall.

Washington Head, a former citizen of Lumpkin county died in Walker county on August the 25th.

Be sure and see Dr. Ryder, who will be at the Hall House on the 11th inst., if you desire any first class dental work done.

A little racket between O. Jones and Jim Mosley last Saturday night resulted in the latter being knocked down by the former.

Vice President Breymann, of the Dahlonega Consolidated Gold Mining Company brought his wife with him on his visit here from the north this week.

The boys tell a good joke on John Chapman. They say that he went down to Jackson county recently to marry and after arriving at his destination decided that $1.50 was too much to pay out for license these hard times.

Prof O. Palmor, returned to Dahlonega this week and is ready to take his place when the college begins. Since his departure from Dahlonega last June we have heard of him at several different places working for this institution.

Where a crowd of "fashionable" women meet together at night for the purpose of sporting with the men and a racket occurs, both men and women should be arrested and made to pay fines. This would bring a part of this midnight frolicking and drinking to a close.

For five weeks some one has been rocking the house of Peter Garret every night while he is absent from home working in the mines. His wife is down sick who says that she has to keep the doors closed to keep them from killing some of her little children. She requests that some of the officers come down and catch up with the parties. It is a shame to treat any one this way and the guilty parties should be caught and punished severely.

On our first page to day will be found a view of Dahlonega taken from the Fendley ridge, a distance of nearly one mile from the court house. The white objects in the picture are houses where one thousand people reside with a bright prospect of an increase of double this number within the next twelve months. New houses are springing up and people are coming here from various parts of the country for the purpose of making this, one of the most delightful mountain towns in Georgia, their homes.

Capt. and Mrs. Frank W. Hall, of Dahlonega, were on the summit of Mount Washington mountain, N. H., which is 6,300 feet above the level of the sea. The paper published at that place called them the Clouds speaks about the two pleasure seekers as follows: "Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Hall, of Dahlonega Ga., were guests at the Summit House on Wednesday night. Mr. Hall is a Vermontor, coming from Winooski, but during a long residence in Georgia he has become identified with some of the most important interests of that state. Dahlonega is in the gold mining region of Georgia, and it was a surprise to many who meet Mr. Hall to see the curious gold nuggets which he exhibited and to learn of the extent of the mining business in his town. A large gold mill has been built this year at Dahlonega, which while not the largest, is said to be the finest in the world. The mines date back many years and were known to the Indians, for the original name of the place in their language, "Tah-lonega," signified "shining metal." The annual output of the Dahlonega mines is about $150,000, and the town has just granted a concession to a company to open a mine in one of the public streets.

If you are in search of mining property it will pay you to peruse our advertising columns.

The members of Etowah church are building them a large nice new building down in the lower part of the county.

The fall session of the N. G. A. college begins 13th. Students have already been arriving for more than a week.

Judge Tate has ordered the election for treasurer to take place on the 4th day of next month, to fill the unexpired term of Wm. Marr deceased, and now the fun begins.

Miss Romania Whelchel, a former teacher in the N. G. A. College who has been teaching in the Ellijay college for two years, has been re-elected, but as yet has not accepted.

J. E. Casteberry, proprietor of both the Hall and Burnside Houses, have been kept busy during the past week looking after the comforts of his many guests who came here to inspect the mines.

If you wish to make the race for treasurer let the people know it through the columns of the NUGGET. The voters are not apt to cast their ballots for you unless they know that you are running.

Last Saturday Dora Anderson, O. Jones, Will Satterfield and John Satterfield contributed one dollar each and cost for being most too noisy at another "entertainment" across Crane's Hill the night previous.

The first new brandy of the season was brought in last Friday from Dawson county which sold readily at twenty-five cents per pint, and a sufficient amount to cause that happy feeling among quite a number of participants.

The negro campmeeting, three miles above Dahlonega commences tomorrow and will add business to the next term of Lumpkin Superior Court as much devils are generally takes place. New brandy and the election which comes off soon will cause things to be lively.

Are you going to build? If so you will need shingles. By reference to our advertising columns you will see that G. G. Evans has a saw machine in operation at Wahoo, and you can get the best that can be turned out on short notice. Samples can be seen at this office or at James Tate's store.

Wm. Armstrong, the printers best friend, brought us a sackful of the nicest pears the other day that we have seen any where as a donation. Mr. Armstrong takes the NUGGET and has taught all of his sons to do the same. If all of our citizens were like this clever old man they would know more of what is going on in the world.

After our northern visitors got through looking at the mines here last Saturday they procured the services of Pony Crow with his ox wagon which was mounted long enough for the protopagator to get a shot at them. They came here for both business and pleasure and all enjoyed themselves, for it is certainly a pleasure for them to leave a busy crowded city and get off up here in the mountains for a few days rest and recreation.

Col. W. P. Price, president of the board of education of Lumpkin county, has just received the rest of his signs from Gainesville for the public schools of Lumpkin which are being sent out and put in position. Now if sign boards were put up on the public highways at such places as directed by law, the people would know which way to go to find these school houses and see how much improvement has been made over the old system of supplying the schools as well as the manner of teaching them. The educators throughout the county have the proper tools to work with now and it will not take long for the board to ascertain who can use them to the best advantage in training the hundreds of young minds in the proper manner.

A nice lot of type writing paper for sale at this office.

A little child of James Walker died last Sunday morning.

The plank kiln of Wells Bros., in Nimbrellville district, was destroyed by fire one day last week, burning several thousand feet of lumber.

Rene Adams was again lodged in jail last Saturday. She was turned out of prison some time ago on account of being sick with fever. She recovered sufficiently to attend the "reception" last Friday night and the sheriff thought that it would not injure her health to go back in the lock-up and remain until court when she will be called upon to answer to the charge of assisting in running a lewd house.

Mrs. A. Thomson, of Delaware, Ohio, mother of our townsman, R. G. Thomson, returned to her home last week after spending a short time in Dahlonega. Mrs. Thomson owns large stock in the Dahlonega Consolidated Gold Mining Co., together with several other ladies of the north. This is a better assurance of the enterprise being a success as you scarcely ever hear of ladies making a failure in anything they undertake.

Dr. Thomson, the tooth puller, who has been here for some weeks relieving people having decayed and aching teeth by taking them out with his fingers, made some of the children happy last Sunday by showing them a lot of nickels out on the square. This didn't cost him long however, as the little ones appeared on the scene almost as thick as blackbirds in a field of grain, causing a non-appearance of any children in church until the fun was all over.

E. Bollington, of Ellijay, gave us a short but pleasant call last Friday, while in Dahlonega on a visit to his daughter, Mrs. T. F. Jackson. Mr. Bollington said that he was very much surprised at the growth of Dahlonega since his last visit here. He came to Dahlonega about 26 years ago and after remaining here a few years left for Ellijay where he has been ever since. We are always glad to have a visit from this kind old gentleman and here him tell of incidents taking place years ago.

Old lady Prewitt, residing in Chastate district, happened to add luck last Saturday, while on her way to the mines to supply her customers with some pure mountain dew which she carried in a jug. When some two miles from town it is said that she was espied by Bud Blackwell who decided that by casting a few stones at the old lady that it would cause her to drop her jug and he could get all the liquor he wanted. So he began to throw and the old creature lit out. A rock struck her but it didn't stop her gait. The old woman kept on at a lively rate, holding on to her jug like a hawk to a chicken, until she landed at her destination safely to the delight of all present.

Last Saturday night the trustees of the N. G. A. College met to fill the Greek and Latin chair in the institution made vacant by the resignation of Prof. J. E. Witherspoon some weeks ago, which resulted in L. H. Harris, of Rockmart, receiving a majority vote. This caused dissatisfaction among those yetting against Professor Harris, not on account of his qualifications in any manner, for he formerly filled one of the educators chairs in Oxford College which position he held until declining in health some time ago, but because he was a Methodist. The majority of the present faculty belong to the Methodist church and it was thought best by some of the trustees and be of more interest to our college to make a more equal division in this respect. Another meeting was held Monday to reconsider the matter but one of Prof. Harris' friends notified him of the opposition and he withdrew. No further action will probably be taken until a Baptist is found who will take the place.

Mrs. M. G. Boyd has gone to Atlanta to spend a week or so.

Mr. George is moving things right along on the Bostwick Hall.

M. G. Head's new house will be ready for occupancy in a few more weeks.

Miss May Reese is on a visit to Mrs. S. H. Adams, at Covington, Ga.

Merchant Gurley has another residence about completed on the Johnson lot.

Miss Stella Porter, of Dixon, Ga., is the guest of Mrs. D. M. Edwards this week.

The candidates band wagon will now begin to move and keep the road hot for a month.

At the ordinary's court Monday the will of W. S. Stancil was probated as provided by law.

The saw and hammer is still kept in motion in Dahlonega, causing quite a change in our prosperous mountain town.

Protracted meetings are being held at various churches throughout the county and many names are being added to the church.

Mr. Spencer has several hands at work on the Presbyterian church pushing the work forward as rapidly as possible.

Miss Julia Bowen, after spending some five or six months in Dahlonega with Mrs. M. G. Boyd, left for her home in Sparta last Friday to the regret of her many friends here.

J. E. McDonald, of Porter Springs district was bound over by Com. Baker last Monday, charged with violating some of the internal revenue laws. He made bond and went his way rejoicing.

The colored people from Dahlonega who attended Rock Spring camp meeting in White county last Sunday report good order, which is something unusual for that camp ground. Some drinking but that is nothing strange at a camp ground.

Hughes Moore returned from Lytle, Ga., last Sunday afternoon. He has been down there, for some time in the employ of Uncle Sam, but when they wished him to go farther west he decided to come back to the red hill of his native county.

Mr. R. C. Thomson has his large new residence about framed. It is on one of the prettiest elevated places in Dahlonega. Mr. Thomson will have no trouble in keeping the proper time for he can see the sun from his house from the time it peeps up in the east of a morning until it goes down in the west at night.

One day last week as an Atlanta negro was returning home from Porter Springs where he had been at work, he was arrested at Gainesville by some officers because something not belonging to him stuck to his fingers before leaving Atlanta. The next day the officers went up to Porter Springs and arrested and carried off three more negroes. What they had done we did not learn.

Mr. Canvason, a bridge agent from Chattanooga, was in Dahlonega last Saturday consulting with Judge Tate in reference to the number and lengths of bridges that are expected to be built in this county. It will cost a good deal more to build an iron bridge now than when the last one was constructed in this county on account of the advance in the price of iron.

From parties returning from Union county this week we learn that Mrs. Geo. Clarke and Mrs. Martin Wilkins had a fight last Saturday, during which both were injured so as to require the presence of a physician. One used an ax and the other a stick and they handled these dangerous weapons like men. Usually when a row occurs a "woman is in it" but in this one there were two. We did not learn the origin of this racket but it might be that there was a "man in it."

The Girl and the Bug.

The Chicago Chronicle tells of a girl at a summer resort who was noticed walking about in company with a good looking man who seemed to be her father.

While a group of hotel guests were making some trivial comments on the appearance of these strangers, the girl ran suddenly toward them and said that a bug was crawling down her back. One of the party volunteered to search for the intruder, and went with the girl into the house. Several other women followed the party with expressions of sympathy and offers of aid.

When the room was pretty well filled, the new girl said that she intended to give a series of entertainments, and posters would soon blossom on the fences. She had a good program of elocution and music, she said, and a scrapbook full of clippings told how well she had been received by the press.

After she had made her little speech, and when the diligent investigation had failed to disclose the bug, she said that she would be happy to sell tickets at twenty five cents apiece.

"I am from Georgia," said the girl. "Well," said a New England woman, "I'll never call Southerners slow again."

An Old Printing Press.

The press that this paper is printed on is of the Peter Smith patent. No. 179, manufactured by Robert Hoe & Co., New York, and is more than one hundred years old. Years ago it was used to print the Augusta Constitutionalist, Augusta Ga., and in 1835 or 1836 was carried to Australia and from there to Dahlonega where it was used to print the Mountain Signal up to few years ago. If the press could but talk my, my, what stories it could tell—some good and lots of bad, we guess.—Dawsonville Advertiser.

New York has an available appropriation of $150,000 for the proposed Dewey jubilee, and yet the program prepared by the committee of arrangements calls for the expenditure of $38,000 more. An idea of the extensive scale on which the affair is gotten up is it is stated that nearly $50,000 of fire works displays will be contracted for, while $30,000 more will go into the grand stands for the parade. A novel feature will be a gigantic motto, "Welcome Dewey," in colored electric lights, thirty feet in height and 300 feet long, which will hang from Brooklyn bridge. The admiral will also be given a $3,000 breakfast, and several other little affairs on the same scale.

A man doesn't have to be very old to remember when there was market in the South for a pound of Western flour or meat. The farms of the South supplied our markets, and our people were then prosperous. A return to the agricultural methods that prevailed then would bring about similar conditions now.—Sparta Ishmael.

One of the great attractions of the state fair will be a pair of diving horses. They dive from a trap a hundred feet above the water. Another attraction will be a collision between two locomotives which is said to be one of the most exciting scenes ever witnessed.

The agricultural display at the State Fair will be the biggest show of that kind ever gathered together in the South. The thousand dollar first prize, the five hundred second, and the three hundred dollar third, and think one hundred dollar consolation prizes have proven big inducements.

There is still some places in Georgia where there has been but little rain and the damage to crops has been great and but little corn or cotton will be made, which is very distressing to the hard working farmers who have nothing to show for their labor.

Word and Works says: "In nothing have the daily papers proved their unreliability more than the foolish talk of the so-called 'kissing bug.' To read the accounts in the daily press one would suppose that the 'kissing bug' is a most poisonous and dangerous insect, which has recently been discovered. The insect they have called the 'kissing bug' is known to science as melanosstipes. It is a very common insect, has been for many years and is no more numerous or dangerous this year than it has been every year. It has a sharp proboscis which it will stick in any one when it is attacked or disturbed. It has no poison and a wound from it is less likely to be dangerous than the bite of a mosquito. It will not attack the lips any more than any other exposed part of the body. It will not usually attack a human being unless it is attacked or disturbed. Thus it exploded the wonderful newspaper stories of the 'kissing bug.' The 'kissing bug' can take its place in the newspaper museum of fakes with the wonderful electric light balloon which appeared two years ago."

CAPT. H. D. INGERSOLL'S RESIDENCE.

The above building is the beautiful residence of Capt. H. D. Ingersoll, general manager of the Dahlonega C. G. M. Co., and mayor pro tem of our town. Capt. Ingersoll has been in Dahlonega about fifteen years and has been connected with the mining interests of Lumpkin county ever since his arrival in our midst. Soon after he came here he was employed by Col. N. H. Hunt to look after his large mining interests in and near Dahlonega. When Col. Hunt sold out to Mr. Christian Wall, Capt. Ingersoll was his own successor, and when the property changed owners last year and I went into the hands of the present company, the services of Capt. Ingersoll were still retained. The Captain looks after the interests of both his employers and the hands. He pays laborers as much as any body here. Is good and kind to them. They all like him and he never has any strikes.

For about six years there has been a warrant against Chou Long, of Fannin county, who is charged with coming into Lumpkin and cutting up at a place of divine worship, and the defendant has been on the dodge every since. Many fruitless trips have been made after him until Chou got to believing that he was safe and couldn't be caught. But the other night when he came over into Union county and was let a daughter of Andrew Phillips Sheriff Davis was on hand within two hours afterwards and had his man and on the road to Dahlonega and in jail before the rising of the sun the next morning. He afterwards made bond.

The workmen said that they were unable to move G. McGuires house off of the street and he got permission from the council for it to remain where it is until the railroad comes.

The severest wind and rain storm in this county during the year visited Spauld County. Was two districts one day last week, doing much damage to the crops.

The Gainesville Eagle says that the deal between the Dahlonega C. G. M. Co. and D. E. Evans, of that city, for the water power, franchises, etc., is not dead at all. The company wished to run a street railway from the Southern depot to the river, where the power can be generated, through Green street and have the privileges of hauling factory freights to the river over the line in the event they could induce factories to move there and locate at the plant and take power. Some of the residents on Green street, as well as some on Main street, positively opposed the granting of these privileges for a term of more than two years. The promoters figured that it would cost not less than $40,000 to get a freight line out to their plant after two years, and the freights would not warrant such an outlay of money, and they could not afford to be shut off from their plant after two years time therefore they called the deal off. After this was done Mr. Evans got the opposition on Main Street to give way and then secured the right of way down E. Washington street to Race in the form of a petition to the company. The citizens of Race street not only signed a petition asking that the road be run on Race street, but also offered five feet on each side of the street, thereby agreeing to widen it ten feet, if the road would come that way. Then the north end of Green street petitioned the managers of the road to run it from Candler street on out Green. These petitions were presented to President Adams and Vice-President Freymann last week and the Eagle says that they seem to be highly pleased with the turn things have taken, although this route will cost them more than the other. Mr. Freymann received news that one of his dredge boats had sunk compelling him to return home in the north at once, but thought he would be able to be back in about a couple of weeks, at which time the deal will likely be closed and the work started on this enterprise at once.

The other night when the portable blind tiger made its weekly appearance in Dahlonega and stopped near the stable at the jail, several rocks were thrown at the parties running it, but one held the light while the other did the cursing, and by threatening to blow a hole through the party large enough for a cat to crawl through, the rocking ceased and the managers carried on their business until the supply was exhausted and the vehicle was turned, headed towards the mountains the next morning for another load.

We see no use of the officials going away out in the country in search of blockaders when some of them appear in Dahlonega every week and carry on the business right in town in broad open daylight. Last week we understood that a certain blockader went into the calaboose and gave certain parties a sample of his tonic.

We are printing a large amount of letter heads and envelopes for various parties. Bring or send in your orders if you need any. The price of stationery, as well as nearly every thing else, is advancing and it may get higher.

V. R. Hicks, who has been attending college in Dahlonega, writes us that he will not return this year, as he has accepted a position in Montgomery, Ala., and is already at his post of duty.

Prof. Ben Parks, a graduate of the N. G. A. College last term, who was recently elected principal of the Clarksville High School, has accepted and the school has opened out.

Do you want to educate your children? If so send them to Dahlonega. She stands head of all northeast Georgia in this direction.

Dahlonega's population is increasing every day. Two families moved from Gilmer co. last week, the head of each went into business at once.

THE NUGGET.

DAHLONEGA, SEPT. 15, '99.
Entered at the Dahlonega, Ga. P. O.
as Second Class Matter.

Nearly twenty cases of yellow fever have developed at Mississippi City.

Cornelius Vanderbilt, multi-millionaire, died in New York last Tuesday of paralysis.

The other day in Georgetown, S. C., a Chinese killed a negro boy because he owed him one cent.

Frank Banks, col., a sneak thief, got fastened the other night while going down a merchants chimney in lower Georgia and was captured.

Yellow fever is spreading at Key West, Fla. More than 30 cases developed there on Friday. There are also a few cases in New York.

Many a man has made a fortune fleeing the public and then tried to square his account with the almighty by giving a few bars of soap to some institution for the distribution of charity.—Ex.

Away down in Dougherty county Editor McIntosh is begging for some of the North Georgia water ground meal. He says it makes the finest corn bread in the world, and he is certainly correct.

J. H. McKee and family have moved to Dahlonega. Mr. McKee will go into the mercantile business in the Gold City. His principal object in going to Dahlonega is to school his children, as that place offers better advantages in educational facilities than any place he has found. Dawson county loses one of her best families of citizens while Dahlonega and Lumpkin county gains a family of whom they may feel proud of.—Advertiser.

Oklahoma's largest wheat field lies a few miles west of the small railway station of Bliss, in Kay county. It contains 5,000 acres, and belongs to the noted ranch "101" which controls 15,000 acres of land leased from the Ponce Indians. Two hundred men, more than 300 mules and horses and twenty-four big twin binders were employed in cutting and shocking the grain grown on this magnificent field this year, and it was not until last Sunday with an army of laborers working night and day for ten days, that the last acre was harvested.

Last Sunday a week ago Jap Brown, who was charged with raping a Miss Whisenbunt in our sister county White, a day or so previous, made his escape from the officers while getting ready to give him a trial before the justice and has not been heard of since. The girl was at home alone at the time the crime was committed. Her screams attracted the attention of her brother who was some distance away. He ran to the house and was knocked down by Brown as he entered the door, who then left out until captured afterwards, and now likely he is gone for good. We learn that he is a pretty bad man when drunk but we don't know whether he was drinking on this occasion or not.

At the recent election in White for representative Rev. James F. West was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the former legislator some time ago. Mr. West was opposed by Messrs. Benton West, J. H. Lumsden and Fain, a son of the former representative, but was elected by a good majority. The successful candidate used to be a populist and made several races in that county, once running for senator, but always got defeated until this time. Probably his success this time was due to the promise we understood he made. That was to return to the democratic fold and run no more. So a majority of the party decided to re-initiate him and give him an office. Now if the defeated candidates get mad and go astray the party has lost instead of gained.

NORTH GEORGIA AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

Located Upon the Site Occupied by U. S. Mint From 1838 to 1861. Fall Session Commenced Monday.

The fall session of the N. G. A. College opened last Wednesday morning with a large attendance of students as usual, and a bright prospect of many more new names being added to the roll before the present month ends, causing our citizens to feel proud of this noble institution which has done so much good in educating the sons and daughters throughout the state of Georgia free of charge. The faculty and trustees are wide awake in the interest of this institution, causing every resident of the town to rejoice at the progress they are making in half-eagles and quarter-eagles. The greatest amount being coined in any single year was $582,782.50 in 1843.

Ten years after the mint closed and while Col. W. M. Price of Dahlonega represented the people of the Ninth Congressional District he introduced a bill for this college, together with ten acres of land, to be donated to the trustees of the N. G. A. College which was incorporated in that year, and then a contract was made with the University to make this college a department of that institution, and the making and keeping the college in the front rank with other leading institutions of the state.

A little history of this building and its site may be of interest to many of our younger readers, which we will give briefly as follows:

In 1838, eighteen years after the first gold was discovered by a negro in Lumpkin county, a U. S. Mint was located at Dahlonega on the site where the present college now stands. Active operations were continued until the breaking out of the civil war in 1861. During the 23 years the mint was operated $3,106,596.00 were coined principally in half-eagles and quarter-eagles.

Mining Notes.

Mr. Collins, of the Hamby mine in White county, has a good force of hands going right ahead with his work.

Our illustration shows what large bodies of valuable gold ore we have in this county. This vein is at the Previt cut down at the Hand mine and measures 35 feet across it.

A VEIN 35 FEET WIDE.

Some ore recently taken from the Grindle water power property assayed more than five hundred dollars per ton, and the beauty of it is there is plenty of it.

Thirty six large pieces of timber for the plant had to be procured by the Consolidated Co. from parties in Chattanooga, Tenn. They are 12x25—25 1/2 and two large to be used in this country.

J. A. Hollifield is now engaged in mining on the Keystone property with very good results considering the scarcity of water. It is hoped that the day is not far distant when they will make arrangements so as to have this valuable property supplied with sufficient water to work it successfully.

doors of the old mint, which had been closed so long, were opened in 1873 as a college for the first time. Five years afterwards it was destroyed by fire. Then the legislature from time to time donated enough to build the present structure at a cost of $25,000.

The college ground has been a very important place for the most of sixty years. Besides turning out $3,106,596.00 in gold coin near 6,000 entrances have been made by young men and young ladies of Georgia and a few other states since it opened as an institution of learning and our citizens have a good cause for being proud of it.

The Southern Gold Miner's Association will make a mineral exhibit during the Georgia State Fair, and the required space for the same has been secured. Mining companies, mine owners, lessors of mines who wish to put minerals on exhibit are requested to notify the present secretary, Otto C. Scupio, of Anstetter, Ga., of their intention of doing so.

Work still progresses on the

Mr. H. D. Jaquish's dredge boat on the Chattahoochee, which has been idle for some time on account of the low water in the river, went to work again Monday morning, the rains having caused the river to rise sufficiently to float the boat. It is now taking out gold and will be kept busy in the future. Mr. Jaquish has taken out lots of gold from the Chattahoochee and Chattahoochee rivers with his dredge boat. It is now near Thompson's bridge.

Cracker. Sheldon, Danforth & Shall, who recently worked the Stowe property, near Gainesville, have purchased the Longstreet property, near Cleveland, White county, and will move their plant to the mine and work it. The property is said to be among the best in the mineral belt and consists of 750 acres. They will commence work on it about October 1st, and no doubt will make a good thing out of it. The Longstreet property was purchased of Mr. Henderson of Cleveland.

We knew that the northern gentlemen who visited Dahlonega last week were pleased with the mines here. Mr. J. S. Mosgrove, of the Ohio State Journal among three or four columns of interesting matter says: They announced to the State Journal when they returned Wednesday afternoon that they were much impressed with the value of the property and its possibilities. Those who held no stock said they would immediately try to get possession of a portion that is still for sale, and those who already hold stock said they would increase their holdings at once. This seems to be the result of every trip of the kind that has been made to the mines, for the gold fields of north-eastern Georgia are on the eve of extensive and intelligent development for the first time since the yellow metal was discovered there, 70 years ago. The deposits are conceded to be among the most valuable in the entire country, and the fact that the territory in which the richest ores are found has not been developed like that of some of the Western states is due in a large measure to the absence of enterprise among the Southern miners.

Work is moving right along down at the Hand mine on the mill, plant and various other work. The cross ties have already been put in place as the McAfee cut to the mill as well as from the Knight shaft, and the track is being laid. The whole distance of railroad from both mines to the plant is about three-fourths of a mile. Monday morning work commenced on another large tunnel so as to strike the Pruitt vein and then on to the Knight, being about four or five hundred feet in length. This tunnel will be 8x7-6 1/2 inside of timbers—timbers to be 10x12 inches. The Antonio tunnel, which is already 130 feet, is being continued through the cross formation. In the distance already gone five different veins have been struck, one of them being 24 feet across, showing free gold at many places. It has been decided to build the bridge across the creek above the Mary Henry mill instead of below as first decided, being a direct line from the plant to the vein on the Benning property, the ore from which will also be conveyed to the plant in electric cars.

While down at the Hand this week we decided to extend our visit and take in the Tahloneka, the mill of which and a portion of the mine being just across the creek from the chlorination plant now in course of construction by the Dahlonega C. G. M. Co., recently leased by our townsman J. E. Moore, a man having been identified with the mining interests of this section for many years and one who thoroughly understands how to work a gold mine successfully. He has as superintendent M. Chester, an experienced miner who has been in charge of this property ever since it was sold by Capt. Hall and others to its present owners. We found this mine in good shape. A twenty mile ditch conveys an ample supply of water into a reservoir right on the highest point of the property, giving them sufficient fall and force to work the mine at any place they may choose with a grant. What they call the north stratified vein or bed of ore is very good and over 300 feet wide. Then there is the Weyer stratified formation between well defined walls. Besides these is the Island vein, the ore from which is conveyed to the mill in a flume about 300 yards in length, in connection with fine tram ways with steel rails—all good ore. The present lessee informs us that he intends to add another flume line from the original Tahloneka lot to the mill from the Razzle Dazzle vein, which will complete the arrangements and furnish the mill with sufficient ore to keep it constantly running both day and night. Both the present concentrator and mill are giving very satisfactory results, and the lessee contemplates putting in additional concentrators in the near future. Mr. Moore seems to be in high spirits with the flattering prospects, and we trust that his efforts will be well rewarded.

Only a few visitors at Porter Springs now.

One of Mr. Kennemore's mules died Tuesday.

Those wishing to locate in Dahlonega will have to buy land and build houses.

Mr. Bagwell, a buggy and wagon manufacturer of Gainesville, was in Dahlonega last Saturday.

Every day people are here hunting houses to rent but all are full and not a single one can be had.

Dr. C. A. Ryder, of Gainesville, sent for his wife this week and they will remain in Dahlonega until the 23rd inst.

No one has been elected to the chair of Greek and Latin in the college as we go to press but it will be filled right away.

It is reported here that Bennett, who was struck with a pair of knucks during a row at Lumpkin camp meeting, is dead.

Only about a dozen attended the colored graded school when it first started but we learn that a good many more have since entered.

Mr. Thurin, of Montgomery, Ala., was here this week visiting his sister Miss Belle Thurin, one of the teachers in the graded school.

A two line ad. in the NUGGET of a recent issue by the Hall Mide Co. caused them to sell two shot guns in a single week—nearly $25. This shows that advertising pays.

The teamsters were one week in delivering two of the large batteries at the Hand mine from Gainesville, costing about a hundred dollars. Oh how bad we need a railroad.

We understand that a negro from Gainesville got one of his feet cut off last week between Dahlonega and that place by a heavy piece of machinery falling on it from the wagon which he was assisting in getting to the Hand mine.

Dr. J. A. Nabers, of Franklin county was in Dahlonega last Saturday, accompanied by Prof. D. L. Cook, a former citizen of Lumpkin who has been teaching in that county for several months. It was Dr. Nabers' intention to move to Dahlonega and educate his children but he had to go away without being able to secure any house.

Old Satan must have blushed the other night when a young woman got full of liquor up on Crane's Hill and danced with some negro men by the tune of "Never mind the weather as the wind don't blow," picked on the banjo by another colored brother. If her old gray headed father could have come along with a cow hide and made her out the pigeon's wing and caused to go home it would have stopped all the fun on this occasion at least.

Recently while Lieut. F. L. S. Price, of Dahlonega, was being transported from a vessel in the Philippine Islands, he fell into the water and lost his grip containing all his money and clothes. A good deal of other money belonging to the soldiers, which he had in this grip went down too. The Lieutenant clung to it as long as he could but had on his boots and clothing rendering him unable to swim and carry his baggage. So he let go the grip in order to save himself and down it went and out swam the soldier.

Since so many additional questions have been made to the list for the receiver to qualify the tax payer to, Uncle Dick Dowdy, residing in the upper portion of the county, won't take the oath, compelling the tax receiver to double tax him this year. He says he will be compelled to pay it this time, but before another year expects to give everything he possesses to his children, as he will not take the oath. He is the only man in the county who refuses to take the oath, but whether they all swear the truth or not we cannot tell.

Mr. Anderson, a good mechanic, of Habersham county, has rented Dr. N. F. Howard's old post office stand and will move into it and make Dahlonega his future home. We welcome all such gentlemen as Mr. Anderson to our place, for without the assistance of carpenters no town could build up.

It is said that there is a certain man "flying around" with the girls here making love to them, causing them to think that he wants to marry who already has a living wife in another county. Girls, you had better be cautious and not be to hasty in flirting with strangers unless you know what you are doing.

Judge Tate and his son Jim are receiving lumber to erect a store room and a dwelling on the lot recently bought by them from the Hughes estate. The store room will be 24x40, with four rooms above, and an ell of four rooms 14 feet each.

A. M. Whitfield, of Atlanta, was here Tuesday looking for a place to rent within three miles of Dahlonega where he can commence a truck farm. He has been in the business near Atlanta for ten years but there are too many following the same occupation there for it to be very profitable to him, and he decided to come up this way. No doubt it will pay him well.

Williams & Son are doing their share towards providing houses for people to occupy wishing to come to Dahlonega and locate. They have already built three new houses within the past three months and last week purchased some land near Cinda Holt's on which they will erect one or two more. Let others do likewise so that those wishing to come here can have homes.

Dr. C. A. Ryder, of Gainesville, is now in this place at the Hall House well equipped to do high-class dentistry of all kinds. He will be here until the 23rd of September. Smith, of Gainesville, and Hunter, of Atlanta, have taken the contract to square up the present frame work and finish the building in good shape. H. D. Gurley, after selling goods twenty-one years in Dahlonega retired from the business last Saturday. He has been very successful. While a number of others started up and failed during this long period he kept right on until he sold out to J. H. McKee last week.

By referring to our advertising columns you will see that J. H. McKee has bought out the stock of goods belonging to H. D. Gurley and gone into business at his old stand. Mr. McKee comes from Dawson county. He is one of our most prosperous merchants and was doing well down there but moved to Dahlonega for the purpose of educating his children. He will sell you goods reasonable and treat you right. His motto is to live and let live.

Among the many visitors here this week was J. W. Powell, of High Shoals, and J. W. Hunter, of Athens, who came and entered their boys in our college. This speaks well of our town and her institution for one to come from Athens, which has all kinds of graded schools besides the university, to send his son to college here at Dahlonega. The people of Georgia can't shut their eyes to the inducements Dahlonega is offering in the way of education, no matter where they reside.

On Thursday night of last week some one entered Rev. D. M. Edwards' house and carried off his vest containing his gold watch and chain. This week he got after the negro boy who staid with him so close that he told the minister if he would give him 55 cents that he would go and get it. He did so and it was not long until the negro returned with the stolen property. He had sold the watch to cadet West for 55 cents and proposed to sell him the chain and charm for fifteen cents. The charm alone cost about $8.00. After the negro turned over the watch and other stolen goods he lit out and has not been heard of since.

On last Monday night at a late hour while Henry Roberts was returning home he stumbled over something in the road running by the cemetery which scared him almost out of his wits. He struck a match and found it to be an old negro woman about 85 years old lying across the road with her head as white as cotton causing her to resemble a haunt very much. The matter was reported to Marshal Anderson who went out to investigate it, but could find out nothing more than her being a strange negro who wouldn't or couldn't tell where she came from or where she was going. She seemed to be crazy. He brought her to the calaboose and cared for her the rest of the night. Next morning after eating breakfast she said that her father told her to travel east. She looked out and saw the sun and started off across the country in that direction. This is the last heard from Roberts' haunt.

ESTRAYED.—A large light brindle, hornless cow. Any one returning her to me at Dahlonega will be well rewarded. She was raised in Pickens county.

GEO. P. DUNCAN.

Among the northern visitors arriving in Dahlonega Tuesday were Messrs. G. G. Spilsbury, of New York; W. E. Hatrick, and H. Miller, of Toledo, Ohio; J. G. O'Neal, Mark Hopkins, Frank T. Welcott, of Port Huron, Mich., and F. G. Thomson, of Toledo, O. Some of these gentlemen already have mining interests here and others may invest.

The colored camp meeting passed off without any disturbance. A very good crowd of both white and black was on hand Sunday but every thing was quiet and peaceable and but very few were noticed being under the influence of liquor. They dread Judge Estes. Most of the drinking seemed to be right here in Dahlonega—some of both races. Three white ones got so full that they drank out of their bottle right on one of the principal sidewalks of the town.

E. S. Spilsbury, of New York, one of the owners of the Hale mine in South Carolina, was here this week in company with John Tson, of Richmond, Va. They visited the pyrites mine Tuesday and then went down to the Tahonoka the next day. Mr. Spilsbury has much experience in mining. For many years they endeavored to work and save the gold at the Hale with every kind of machinery and make it pay but failed until they put up a chlorination plant, similar to the one being built here now by the Consolidated Co.

Last Saturday night soon after dark a blockader came into town and announced that there would be plenty of liquor for all later on. Then the crowd began to gather on the square in large numbers with coffee pots, bottles in paper sacks, and every other kind of a vessel most that would hold liquor, to be ready when the signal for the line of march was given. For two hours they stood patiently waiting, occasionally whispering in each others ears like taking up the password of some secret society or like Masons do when they go to bury a brother. At the hour of 10 when "ready" was given they started off towards the Findley Ridge in two following the man of spirits, who led them a short distance in the woods beyond the mile post where a man blacked stood ready over a keg of liquor to wait on his customers composed of beardless boys on up to men crippled with old age. One of the number stood guard on top of the hill. He thought he heard some one approaching and gave the signal that Marshal Grizzle was coming when they all squatted like patridges and not a word was uttered until it was known to be a false alarm through a mistake. The keg was soon emptied and this was all that occurred to mar the happy occasion. As they passed back by the one on picket they all offered him a drink except a Baptist brother who only had a quart and was afraid if he gave any away that he would not have enough to do him over Sunday and tune his voice for singing at divine services. The liquor was said to be so mean that every one drinking it and having a grand mother whipped her.

There are more building been done in Dahlonega this year and going on now than has been known here at any one time since we can remember. Besides The Bostwick Hall and the Presbyterian church the number of buildings put up this year and now in course of erection, counting those converted into dwellings when completed will make twenty-eight residences during the past year, and still many more are wanted. This shows that Dahlonega is building up faster than any other town in Northeast Georgia.

Dr. N. F. Howard's Views About the Railroad.

In 1865—66, when a bill was introduced into the Legislature to give State aid to the Atlanta and Richmond Airline Railroad it was on condition that the road should be run by Gainesville. The representative from Clark County, Mr. Adams, as well as leading citizens of Athens, opposed the measure, stating that a road running above them next to the mountains would greatly injure the business of Athens. They said that the road should run through their city instead of Gainesville.

While it is true that the bill passed the Legislature, Gov. Jenkins voted it, and it did not become a law. A few years after this Col. Price was in the Legislature and the same measure passed and became a law, giving aid to said road. It was finally built through Gainesville and, as far as I know, Athens was not injured, on the contrary has grown and grown every year since.

Now Gainesville is in the same condition that Athens was in 1866, opposing any road north of her, but I am sure that Gainesville would not be damaged by a road to Dahlonega, for the population of the country would increase and business from the up-country would become greater.

Though there might be some decrease in small traffic or retail business from the mountains, yet on the other hand, as shown by past experience, the wholesale business would, very likely be doubled. Therefore, the Gainesville people need not be alarmed at the prospect of small roads running north of them.

There is a section of Georgia 100 miles northward from Gainesville towards Mineral Bluff, Ga., and Murphy, N. C., unperched by railroads. I ask is there a true Georgian that will raise his voice in opposition to the further development of this section of their mother state? N. F. HOWARD, M. D. Sept. 11, 1899.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and there fore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co. Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Pill's Family Pills are the best.

VIEW OF THE IRON TUBE ACROSS THE YAHOOÖLA RIVER.

Our illustration on this page shows the large cyphon across the Yahoöla river about one mile south of Dahlonega, belonging to the Dahlonega Consolidated G. M. Co., which conveys the water down a hill across the stream and up another hill, a distance of 2800 feet into the canal. The pipes are 3 feet in diameter, made of wrought iron 1-4 and 3-8 in thick, built in 21 feet lengths, with wrought iron joints leaded. The tubes are supported by six stone piers, about 26 feet above the stream. The total cost being about $100,000.00. The tubes were manufactured in Boston. At the time there was no railroad to Gainesville and they had to be hauled on wagons a distance of 70 miles. These tubes carry all the water in the Yahoöla canal which is 3 feet deep, 5 feet wide at bottom and 7 feet and 6 inches at the top. The distance of the canal is about 32 miles, which was cut while Col. Hand owned the mines. The water was first conveyed across the creek over a flume three hundred feet high at a cost of $100,000.00. It cost Col. Hand an immense sum of money to complete this canal. At one place, some three miles from town the water runs through a wooden tube one mile long made of staves 13 feet in lengths and 8 inches thick, which are bound together by 2 inch iron bands 24 inches apart. These references give some idea of the amount of labor and means it required to get the water to the Hand mines.

The other day as Sam Goidlock was returning from Gainesville his mules got frightened at some mining machinery on the road, and ran, which bruised up the driver and came near killing a mule. The wagon was turned over and a mule was dragged a considerable distance by the other three before they could be stopped.

We are glad to note the presence of Judge W. W. Murray, of Tennessee, in our town this week. The Judge owns large mining interests in this section, and his visit here this time will be the means of such a revival in the business as to open the eyes of the natives.

Dahlonega now has two markets. G. H. McGuire now occupies his new residence. It is a little boy and is stopping at Luther Hightowers. The optioning of property in this county still continues. A number of wagons are moving every day hauling mining machinery from Gainesville. There is no livelier town in Georgia without a railroad than Dahlonega.

Look out for the cross mark on your paper. It means that your subscription to the same has expired. Our town is full of miners, students and visitors, causing the hotel proprietors and boarding house keepers to wear pleasant smiles. Messrs. Sparlin and Soseby, of Mineral Bluff, two mechanics, who have come here to work, arrived last week. Mr. Sparlin has moved his family here.

The farmers will find Dahlonega a good market for their produce now as we have many people with us, all hale and hearty having splendid appetites. Mrs. M. J. Hayes, of Marble Hill is here on a few weeks visit to her daughter, Mrs. G. McGuire. Mrs. Mollie Bell a sister of Mrs. McGuire was here last week to enter her daughter in school.

There is no chance to rent houses in Dahlonega now. Every building is full. As soon as one is completed some one is ready to take it. Some families are living in tents. These owning land and having money will have to build some houses. It will be a good investment. Quite a compliment was passed on Prof. Martin, principal of the Graded School, the other day by one of our citizens, who said that the Professor had learned his daughter more since the opening of the school—two weeks—than her other teacher had taught her in a year.

It is said that a revival occurred recently at a house within ten miles of Dahlonega without the presence of a preacher. A man having a flask of liquor went over to visit his neighbor for the purpose of spending a few hours pleasantly. They both drank until they began to feel splendid. After awhile the man fell out with his visitor and while one or two were holding him to keep him from shooting the fellow lightning struck a white oak tree near the yard. This caused a sudden change in the situation. The old woman got to shouting which caused the two enemies to join her and it was not long until they were hugging and kissing each other like young people out on a courting expedition. We would give names but the fellow who wanted to shoot his neighbor belongs to the church and visited the last district meeting at Dahlonega, and if it was generally known both the men and the church which he belongs to might be dropped from the list at the next meeting.

Last Friday was pay day for the Dahlonega C. G. M. Co., which kept book keeper Jim Witt paying out money to the 300 hands employed all day and until a late hour that night. It was an interesting sight to see how anxious people are to get money. It was a big crowd sure. Every fellow who was owed by any of the hands was on hand ready to receive his money. They came from White, Dawson and other counties and stood around from beginning to ending. We were among the greedy spectators. One fellow was due us 15 cents but we didn't get it. When he got his money he put it in his pocket and went off without even looking at us, like he had been insulted. The only way we had to get even with him was to stop his paper. So when he went to the post office the next Friday he was disappointed as bad as we were on the 15th.

The Bassenger house, recently purchased by the Dahlonega Consolidated Co., will undergo some changes. An addition will be made to it besides other improvements.

THE NUGGET.

DAYLONEGA, GA., SEPT., 22 '99.

The dormitory is full of boys and Mr. West, the manager, wears a pleasant smile.

Mrs. Emma Patchen, formerly of Dahlonega but now of Atlanta, was in our town this week.

B. P. Gaillard, Jr., left for Athens this week where he goes to prepare himself for a lawyer.

J. E. Meaders and family, after spending a couple of months in Dahlonega, returned to Swainsboro last Wednesday.

It will be well for you to remember that postmaster Britain has fixed office hours. The office opens at 8:30 a. m. and closes at 7:30 p. m.

We thank the person for the information given in the letter left under our office door Monday night. Would like to talk with them more on the subject.

You will find at Copeland's California dried peaches, macerated, extracts, bakers chocolate, fresh oat meal, breakfast food, rice, grits, and finest line of candies in the city.

Among J. F. Moore's big stock of goods just received you will find cooking and heating stoves, blankets, miners lined working coats and every thing else that is kept in a store.

The Butler family have given already two right good entertainments in Dahlonega since our last issue. The high kicking and skirt dancing caused some of those with weak eyes to wear their best specks.

Judge Tate has been up in the tatter district this week straightening up the bridge across the Chesapeake river known as the Caleb Senholt bridge, which was blown out of position by a storm some time ago.

Monday night some one passed off a counterfeit silver dollar on the showman and received 75 cents back in good silver change. And the next day some unknown person carried off the showman's photographs he had in a frame hung up in the court house. The dollar rattled like a good one but was sleek and felt greasy.

Leather hangers 46¢; good bed ticking 11¢; nice fresh crackers and candy; cheapest priced dry goods and pocket books, suspenders and collars, sweaters 25 to 85¢, one hundred receipts with studs 5¢, dress shirts 45 and up, umbrellas 49 to 138¢, folding checker boards and checks 10, etc., etc., cheap for cash or country produce.

B. R. MEADERS & SON.

Lumpkin county is in the same condition that Schuy county is. Scores of people give in numbers of lots of land that they do not own, and there are often cases where four or five pay taxes on the same lot by number and do not give in their own lands. Some have deeds to and have lived on lands for years that do not belong to them.

Ferdinand McDonald has moved to town and now occupies the old Academy where he went to school more than forty years ago. The pleasures of a school boy with Ferdinand have long since ended. He married years ago and has grown children and we expect several grand children. But still there is a warm place in his breast for the old school house on the hill.

A fine little girl made its appearance at merchant Joe McGees last Tuesday. We hardly know whether to congratulate the father or not. Unexperienced editors would say that the little one had come to make the household happy. We can't see where the happiness comes in when a father has to be called up every night and walk back and forth across the room for two or three hours trying to get the crying baby which he holds in his arms to hush, saying nothing of the hundreds of other troubles that come up afterwards.

J. F. Moore is making some repairs on the rear of his store house.

Ansler Sheriff and Noah Lackey, of Dawson county, were bogged over last Tuesday by Com. Baker for blockading.

All who are indebted to the firm of Smith Bro., Porter Springs, either by note or account are requested to come forward and settle at once.

You will find best cream cheese at J. F. Moore's at 15 cents per pound. He has bought eighteen hundred pounds and has plenty for all.

Deputy sheriff Martin of Dawson county, was up to Dahlonega on the 15th. We think that he was on the lookout for some evil doers but failed to find them.

Last Tuesday down at the Hand mine the scaffold on which Clyde Loveless, of Dawson county stood working on a rock wall, fell and a stone dropped on one of his legs breaking it.

We learn from merchant McKee who visited Dawson county this week that Bennett, who was reported as having died from a wound received during a fight is not dead but is getting well.

Charlie Hunter and Henry Underwood have formed a copartnership in the barber business with shop at the old stand next door below McGees store. Both are good barbers and well known here. See card elsewhere.

Seven cases were disposed of by Mayor Price on Tuesday and Tuesday night of parties who had been violating the ordinances of the town as follows: Wm. Ricketts, two cases, $5 and cost in each case; Tom Duckett, Zack Hester, Jess Seabolt and Walter Mappin, $2 and cost each; Henry Williams and Joe Cora, $1 and cost each.

J. T. Smith, of the enterprising firm of Smith Bro., Porter Springs, was down a short while last Tuesday. Nearly all the visitors are gone and things are more quiet. Mr. Smith says that their trade largely increased this summer. This we are satisfied is due to their advertising in the Nugget, being the first time they ever tried it.

The impression has gone out that the mayor of Dahlonega has no right to punish persons who sell liquor within the corporate limits of our town. Last Tuesday we consulted Mayor Price about the matter, who informed us that he had no right to fine them for this offense but could and would bind the guilty parties over to the Superior Court every time the town marshal brought them before him with sufficient proof. So it is now left for the marshal to catch them.

We regret to learn just before going to press that Mrs. John L. Burns died Wednesday night after an illness of about four weeks of typhoid fever. Mrs. Burns came to Dahlonega only a short time ago from Toledo, Ohio, to join her husband who has been here for several months in the employ of the Consolidated Co. We, together with the entire community sympathize with the husband in the loss of his companion. The remains will be temporarily buried here in Mt. Hope Cemetery.

Jacob Cain was bound over by Com. Baker, charged with illicit distilling. Mr. Cain was not seen in or about any distillery but one was found some distance from his premises and a road leading out at or near his house to a distillery which was destroyed by the officers not long since, which, under the rules and regulations of Uncle Sam justified the Commissioner in binding him the other day. Mr. Cain swore that he didn't own the concern and had nothing to do with it which will be considered by the grand jury. We understand that the distillery was owned and operated by two much younger men than the one accused. They ought to come up like men and own up to it and not allow this old man to suffer in prison with a chance of losing what little property he possesses.

Mrs. Luna Boyd has returned from Atlanta.

Mr. E. P. Dobbs and family of Marietta, are visiting president J. S. Stewart.

Hands are now engaged in moving the Hall saw mill up on the Coopers Gap road near John Waldens.

Go up to Dahlonega if you wish to live among good, clever people. It's true that we have a few two for a nickel mushroom aristocrats but you will find them all over the world.

Dr. N. F. Howard went to Atlanta this week to have Dr. Calhoun operate on his eyes. The Doctors eyesight has been failing for some time but we hope now that a change will take place and it will get better.

Another shoe maker was in Dahlonega this week looking out a place to open up a shop, but couldn't secure any house just now. Vacant houses and even places large enough for shoe shops are hard to find in Dahlonega. We already have three shoe shops.

Prof. Wilber Colvin of Athens, Ohio, has been elected to fill the Greek and Latin chair in the college here and Miss Saffie, of Camilla, Ga., has charge of the normal department. Will have more to say about these new teachers later on.

The Hall Mds Co. is still receiving their immense stock of all kinds of fall and winter goods. The house is now fuller of goods than it has ever been before. All the customers have to do is ask for what they want and they will be sure to get it as the stock embraces every thing that you can think of at prices cheaper than ever known in Dahlonega before. Go and make an inspection before buying elsewhere.

Hughes Moore has bought out the interest of Mr. Buffington in the livery business here and has formed a copartnership with Clyde Meaders, who have opened out a livery and feed stable in the Dr. Howard stables just below Main street bridge known now by the firm name of Meaders & Moore. They keep good stock and the best vehicles which can be had at reasonable terms. They were born and raised in Dahlonega, now give them a share of your patronage. They will treat you right. Turnouts can be had at any hour, either day or night.

As we state elsewhere we do not know what they are going to do with that big pile of brick up at the Consolidated Commissary but if they are going to erect a building it will be unnecessary to perform any kind of a ceremony when they go to laying the corner stone, for two intoxicated women stood up on the brick last Friday night and drank a toast each in the presence of a right good size male audience, while another one stood near screaming like a panther, although having a much finer voice, but fortunately they didn't get any of the spectators into trouble and caused them to pay out fines. What is the reason the devil don't do his duty?

L. H. Helton returned from North Carolina last week. The old man has just served out a sentence of eighteen months in the penitentiary for making a little blockade liquor. It is not the guiltiest that suffer most every time. In the list of cases set for trial at the next term of the U. S. District Court, to be found elsewhere in this issue, will be read defendants names whose cases have been on the docket for years. Some of them have made and sold thousands of gallons of liquor since the cases were booked against them and still continue. It is said that they carry liquor to sell every time they go to Atlanta to have their cases continued. They are making money. Old man Helton being a small blockader without any money didn't gain the friends that these other fellows have, and therefore he had to go to the penitentiary. Oh Justice, where are you?

Col. Howard Thompson and express agent Terrell were up on a short visit from Gainesville last Saturday.

Last Friday in Crumby's district, William, a son of Jess Satterfield, was wedded to Miss Minnie Beasley, a daughter of Ross Beasley.

Messrs. F. M. Williams & Son are going to start up another much needed enterprise in Dahlonega, which is a grist mill that will grind about one hundred bushels of corn a day.

Capt. Woodward, of the Signal has been enjoying good health since going to the cup board the other night and taking a dose of Pottine thinking it was soda, for pulse similar to those boys have after eating green peaches.

The blacked man appeared again last Friday night. This time he came nearer town and those who indulged carried larger vessels this time than they did before, soon relieving him of ten gallons. What has become of the detectives?

We see no reason why the offices of Treasurer and Clerk of the Superior Court in Lumpkin county could not be consolidated. One person could very easily attend to the duties of both. It is done in some other small counties in Georgia and works well.

Teams are engaged in hauling brick to the vacant lot on the corner near the Consolidated Commissary, though for what purpose we do not know. Some say it is for a bank, some for one thing and some for another. Those interested tell no secrets and the only way for us to do is to wait patiently and find out later on.

A petition containing twenty-one names was presented to the ordinary last week asking him to order a stock law election in Auraria district. An investigation showed that there were not enough legal free holders on it for him to do so—being only about fourteen or fifteen, after aking off the dead, removed and those owning no real estate. They will have to try it over and come again.

Last Sunday morning times looked pretty lively awhile over at Pleasant Ridge Sunday School, some three miles east of Dahlonega. During services Will Satterfield, a son of Jess, rode his wild horse through the yard. When he came back the second time W. H. Satterfield stopped him, causing Will to light off of the horse and want to fight. Three of W. H. Satterfield's boys came up and this caused Wills brother to join him. The racket passed off without any licks being passed and it is hoped that next Sunday things will be more quiet.

Once a man and twice a boy. What a true saying this is. For some nights the house of Docia Beck has been rocked after she retired. The lone woman reported the matter to Marshal Anderson who got in a position a few nights ago to watch. He had not been secreted long before the rocking commenced and the party was located. He went up and found it to be Bill Dotson, a man more than 60 years of age. Dotson, it is said, used to make love to this woman and we guess now she has turned the back of her hand on him, causing the old man to get up this disturbance.

Mrs. Garret writes us that unknown parties still continue to rock her house of nights. We don't know what she can do unless she will move to town where Marshal Anderson can keep his watchful eye upon her premises. If she does not want to do this she might follow the example of the fellow who sprinkled meal in his yard every time he went off of nights to see if any one came to his house while he was gone. She might discover tracks which would give some clue as to who it is that is giving her so much trouble. Else she can wait patiently until a kodak is invented with electric light attachments so as to enable her to get the party's picture.

Miss Maud McGuire, after a visit of some three weeks in Sparta returned home this week.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Presbyterian Church will give a Lawn Party to-morrow evening at "Park Street Inn."

Marshal Anderson informs us that he has on his list of street hands the names of 223 persons who are permanent citizens of our town liable for road duty. This is an increase of 80 over last year, showing that our place is rapidly growing in population.

The readers attention is called to the announcement of B. C. Bryan who is a candidate for county treasurer. Mr. Bryan is one of our oldest citizens, having been a resident of the county for 70 years and has always been honest and upright and now, for the first time asks you for an office.

A New York firm made us a proposition this week to give us an imitation of a diamond ring for a certain amount of advertising. We declined because we don't think a diamond ring would look well on a country editor who is contentless, sockless and wears a fifteen cents cotton checked shirt.

Dahlonega's prosperity is all due to the discovery of gold in this section. If no gold had been found here we would have had no college and many other beneficial things that we are now enjoying. In fact we doubt whether we would have had any court house. Had you ever thought about it?

Marshal Anderson succeeded in catching the blacked blockader over on Crown Mountain Tuesday night and getting about two gallons of his liquor but the man got away while being brought to town. The man had about fifteen or twenty customers present waiting for their turn to come when the marshal wept up. The blockader was blacked up well having on a dress split high enough in front to allow him to run fast, and as soon as an opportunity was offered he didn't think about his dress being prepared in front for the occasion, but picked up the garment in both hands and went through the woods with the tail standing straight out behind at a very rapid speed. The next morning the path was marked by little pieces of that man's dress hanging all along the route to the bushes.

The Graded School.

An important public meeting will take place at the Graded School building on to-morrow (Saturday) at 3 o'clock, p. m., under direction of the school board of the town of Dahlonega.

The mayor and aldermen of the town will be present, together with the faculty of the college. Parents and the public are invited to attend.

Addresses will be made by prominent citizens. Persons attending will please bring chairs as the school is not yet supplied with seats sufficient. The occasion is intended to celebrate the opening of the graded School system of the town of Dahlonega.

Georgia Pensions.

The State commissioner of pensions has finished his work for the fiscal year and has placed his reports in the hands of the printer.

From the report the following facts and figures are taken: The total number of pensions paid in 1898 was 10,309, against 11,125 for the year 1899, or an increase in 1899 over 1898 of 816 pensions.

The amount of money paid for pensions of all classes in 1898 was $609,760 and in 1899 $652,820, an increase of $43,060. The widows paid in 1898 were 3,820 and the amount paid them $226,800, and for the years 1899 the number of widows who drew pensions 3,706 and the amount paid them was $222,360, a decrease in the number being 114, and decrease in the amount paid on this class of pensioners, $7,440.

For invalid claims in 1899 there were 3,453 pensioners paid, the amount being $169,500 and in 1898 the number 3,398, the amount being $190,000, an increase of 55 pensioners, and of $2,500, in money for the year 1899.

In the indent list during the year 1899 the number who drew pensions 3,166 and the amount $189,960, showing the increase of 800 pensioners and $480,000 paid out on this branch of the pension act.

They Are All There.

Take a walk through the cemetery and you will pass the last resting place of the man who blew into the muzzle of a gun to see if it was loaded. A little further down the slope is the crink who tried to see how close he could pass in front of a moving train.

In strolling about you see the modest monument of the hired girl who started to start the fire with kerosene; and a grass covered knoll that cowers the boy that put a corn cob under the mule's tail. The tall shaft over the man who blew out the gas casts a shadow across the boy who tried to jump a moving train. Side by side the ethereal creature who always had her corset faced to the last hole, and the intelligent idiot who rode a bicycle nine miles in ten minutes, sleep on undisturbed.

At repose is the doctor who took a dose of his own medicine. There with the top of a shoe box driven over his head is the rich old man who married a young wife. Away over there reposes the boy who fished on Sunday and the woman who kept strychnine with powders in the cupboard. The man who stood in front of a moving machine to let the cycle be quiet now and rests beside of the careless brakeman who fed himself to a 70 ton engine, and over in the corner of the fence in the potters' field may be seen the bleaching bones of the man who tried to whip the editor.—Knoxville Tribune.

Just how many divorces have been brought about by the failure of the man to get up and light the fire, only the records of the courts will show, but there is a Ga. man who has apparently solved a correct plan to overcome this evil, by devising a lightning attachment for alarm clocks. With an invention of this character in the house, the husband can prepare his fire at night and set the alarm clock, say for seven o'clock the next morning. When the hour of seven rolls around, a spring actuated match-holder is caused to ignite a match and start the fire and he pot boiling. Whether some one will go a step further and prepare the coffee and meals over night, so that all the wife will have to do will be to set the table, is as yet a question. No fair-minded woman would object to that service.

An exchange says: "We now have the chainless bicycle with the skirlless rider, the horseless carriage with pantless driver, wireless telegraphy, smokeless powder, painless dentistry, odorless kerosene and noiseless explosives, but we have not yet come across the kickless subscriber."

The miners at Ducktown are on a strike and the mines have closed down. The strike was caused by the mining company refusing to work union men. The union was only recently organized and when the company refused to employ members of the union almost all the miners immediately went on a strike and joined the union. The mines now are all closed down and the strikers declare that non-union men shall not work. Trouble of a serious nature is feared if the company attempts to import non-union men.—Blue Ridge.
